Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

Coming from 2019 without even any communication from here and what resembles the term of ghosting (excessive action of inaction), much remains requiring to be worked out. You should not pass over people. When passing over people, too much is left out and the situation lacks more than otherwise. When accomplishing the task of dealing with the people involved and not skipping over them, you have that to refer to as success achieved, but without that task accomplished, you do not have that to refer to or cite as a notable accomplishment. In addition, you are losing those people you skipped over along with anyone else affected.

So far since before the summer of 2017, there has been no communication, no funding, no personnel, no physical office locations, no collaboration or acknowledgment, no support or facilitation, no resources or supplies. There also has been no progress or inspiration, no acclimating or familiarizing, no publicity or media coverage, no interacting or participating, no honorary wall section and no mutual borderland work. There additionally has been no mutually agreeable and acceptable student loans securing or advancing and no stopping of the student loans interest accumulations and no adjustive paying down the student loans amounts. Doing things in these circumstances has many difficulties. Everything on this part, though, remained active, worthy, and requiring, and success continued being achieved as best as possible.

My professional position of director still continues. My invoice still continues. My offer and claim still continue. My relevant work and career still continue. The situation and the professional and business aspects involved are still not secured, though, because you of the Trump administration did not adequately work out your part yet, so an adequacy of relevant work on your part is still requiring.

I made a claim in July 2019. My claim was for the amount of money stated in my invoice. My claim and invoice continued since July 2019 and went into this year of 2020. The money claimed on my invoice comes from my director level work involving the United States and the time of the workweeks involved. The United States has not paid any of this money of my claim yet so still has to do so for the claim to be settled.

My offer included using the claimed money from the invoice to pay off $100,000 of my student loans. My student loans presently still total more than $200,000 and with interest continuing to accumulate until my claim and offer are worked through on your part. To take care of the rest of the student loan amount after the $100,000, a Student Loans Relinquishment Honor is supposed to be made to me. The Student Loans Relinquishment Honor is for many reasons and serves many purposes because of being something that is of more than a quarter-century and involves successfully handling major issues through that significant amount of time. The various aspects involved with the $100,000 being paid on the student loans and the Student Loans Relinquishment Honor being issued have to be worked out.

My invoice for my salary of a United States director is accumulated to almost $200,000 right now. I am still working at additional jobs that I receive pay for, so I do not desperately need the money, and I can afford to keep the invoice accumulating or to pay or spend the money from the invoice. After taxes are paid and the $100,000 is paid on the student loans, the rest can be used as a contribution from me for any relevant professional fees to work out this or anything else involving student loans. I can do this arrangement from this payment to me, but I will not be able to do this same thing for every additional payment to me. I can do it for this one, though, and I have everything prepared for this arrangement to be completed, but a necessity is for the work involved on your part to also be done.

For the continuance as of January 1st, 2020, I receive a pay raise of $15,000 yearly. That makes my currently active pay rate be a salary of $150,000 yearly. When I actually receive my pay, after the first amount of including the student loans is settled, I have to be paid a bonus of $25,000. At the end of the year of 2020, I also have to be paid a Christmas bonus of $25,000. The 2019 Christmas bonus of $10,000 is added to my invoice, and the Christmas bonus of $25,000 or more is for each year hereafter.

Merit bonuses through the year are also possible. Additional incentives, rewards, and honors are also possible. Mainly, though, these areas have to be worked out and kept up to date through the year rather than my invoice just continuing to accumulate. The best situation is for there to be mutuality and success achieved, which can happen by getting and then staying up to date in these directions, and also, the doing well would then be there to refer to or cite for authority.

I still can be reached by email or telephone for efficiency. The preference is email. The postal service regular mail can also still be used, but allowing some additional time is necessary when using the regular mail. I will review and follow-up accordingly with your communication to me as soon as I receive it.

Thank you,

January 12, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

This letter is to each of you accordingly. The letter is also important and relevant to each accordingly. I also attached the records for 2019.

A question here is how to get you to deal with the matters involved. How can you be influenced or advised to do your work? How can you be gotten to do your part? There has been quite a bit already. How much more or what does there have to be?

You are supposed to be dealing with these matters involved. You are supposed to be doing your part. You are supposed to be doing your work. These areas are in your interests, and you affect other parties involved and including yourself. You are supposed to be making offers and providing opportunities, and you are supposed to be bestowing appropriate rewards and honors due.

When you do your job, you positively affect all other parties involved, including yourself. You end up doing the right work and producing the right results. When you do not do your job, you negatively affect all other parties involved, including yourself. You end up doing the wrong work and producing the wrong results. Something or someone has to get you to do your job so that there is a positive and successful situation for all parties involved, including yourself.

I have not been very impressed in your directions lately. You left everything neglected through a third holiday season, even though I sent direct and specific communication since November 1st, 2019 and requested at least an adequacy of relevant communication back. You did not even adequately communicate back through and then by after this third holiday season (the holiday season of 2019). Merits are not existent in your failure to even relevantly communicate in the third holiday season.

The 2019 holiday season was the third holiday season straight through (2017, 2018, and 2019) where there was directly present at the White House active communication expressing about nationally important issues, people, interests, and directions.

I am someone who has more than a quarter-century background and career involving the United States. The issues I communicated about involve up to the same more than a quarter-century. I am the one who is the discoverer of an authentic miracle referred to as God's Miracle Cross and which was communicated about to the White House since 1983. I recently explained about, substantiated, and acted in my director level position concerning the United States government and set the United States Department of Sovereignty.

The only way a successful situation will result is if progress is made in the directions I communicated about through the past years. That progress would have to continue significantly through the year of 2020 in order for the situation to work out successfully. The time is late and getting later, though, because these areas should have been advanced before the 2019 holiday season and through it, so now there is more uncertainty in these directions than there was before this year of 2020.

I do not feel like much a part of anything in your directions. I am not sure that we are on the same side. I do not even think anymore that we are on the same team. I am not sure which country you are involved with and are favoring, and I see that the United States is left neglected and excessively requiring. I also see that too much time is already involved and the good that there is presently continues being ruined.

Everything has been presented to here and has been here at the White House for a long time, 3 years. The situation is not just that you, Donald Trump, John DeStefano, and the Trump administration, did not deal with something and you have to get to it. The situation is that the time involved is three years, and you, Donald Trump, John DeStefano, and the Trump administration, still have not gotten to something that you should have originally gotten to within a reasonable amount of time.

My materials say of the situation and what was going on through the times of 2017 to now in 2020. My invoice covers much of the time from the past to present and continuing. Are you going to deal with my materials and my invoice, though? I made a claim. The claim is valid and is a real claim, and you have to treat it as being a valid and real claim. Are you going to treat my claim as a real and valid claim?

I made an offer along with the claim, and the offer was tied in with student loans. I provided information to here and said about the relevancy and importance of the student loans situation through more than two years, and I made the offer along with the claim in July 2019. Are you going to work out the offer I made, and when is that going to be?

Right now, the trouble is that there is too much time involved with this same situation. Any time passage in this same way is unacceptable. That is an action or occurrence of taking too long.

What are you trying to do or cause? Are you trying to discredit everything on my part? Are you trying to make me look bad? I was successful and did well, and I have years of credentials, experience, merits, rights, and potential. The professional and official position involved with me here is that of a director with the United States government, and that is why my materials were here and how they were supposed to be treated.

With the newly established U.S. Department of Sovereignty, staff was needed. I said about that, but I could not proceed with hiring staff throughout the country because I had to wait for you to do your part. I said about the necessity of opening up offices throughout the country, but again, I could not open up any offices because of waiting for you to do your part. You did not do your part through that time or yet. Are you going to do your part now or anytime soon?

If you have anything to present to me, you can send it over. I request that you send relevant communication. I will review it and provide a response.

Thank you,

January 18, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

In the present era, I communicated to here at the White House concerning advanced professional levels involving the United States and its government since before July 2017. My communication continued through all that time up to the present and ongoing. My communication was welcomed and was never turned away. My communication was always appropriate, with good intent, insightful, and relevant and important to active issues involved with the United States. My communication was not dealt with enough, though, and that lack of dealing with my communication is what caused many deficiencies and problems through those times.

The lack of dealing with my very advanced doctoral/director level communication officially made never helped the situation and always hurt the situation. Only so much can be expected in the first place, and over the years of this type of occurrence, I built up many defenses. Still, though, longer and longer cannot have to be gone through with only applying defenses. Instead, there has to be enough that comes of the communication in a reasonable amount of time so that there is fulfillment and a refreshing and advancing of the situation. More can then reasonably be done, and everyone involved is content, successful, and progressing.

The summer of 2019 should not have been gone through without my communication adequately dealt with. Before the 2019 summer, I said that the summer is coming up and questioned about working something out with me for in the summer season. The fourth of July will be here, and what about that or something in the summer. Nothing was worked out with me, although I did a lot and had a lot there directly communicated to the White House. Without my communication being adequately dealt with by the end of the summer season of 2019, the impeachment process started in September 2019.

My material remained present at the White House through the next months of September to December 2019. When we reached the holiday times, I expressed since November 1st, 2019 that the holidays are coming up and that I request an adequacy of relevant communication back. I made a deliberate and exact emphasis as of November 1st specifically because this was the third holiday season in the present era and in this same way, which I expressly pointed out. No relevant communication was made to me from the White House in the holiday season of 2019, and then the Senate trial for impeachment was set in the beginning of 2020 right after the 2019 holiday season. Nothing on the part of the White House was sufficient because nothing else was supposed to be done in the 2019 holiday season, and by after it, everything was not supposed to be left still only requiring.

Now what is going to be done? Are these areas going to be worked out now as the impeachment trial is going on? That may be the only way of coming out of that Senate trial without an impeachment. Through the past more than five years, I have been licensed in each of the states of these senators and have done an excellent job with the work I did. My good work through the past years in and concerning the states of these senators may be something important to these senators in deciding to not favor impeachment.

My high-level work still has to be dealt with. The issues, including national issues, involved still have to be worked out. I, along with my work, was present before the Trump administration, through the Trump administration times, and will be present after the Trump administration times. I would rather, and it would be better for all involved, for my material to be worked out, instead of me just going longer and longer with everything still requiring to be worked out, including after the Trump administration times. I know that it will be hard to have time during the Senate trial times to work out everything involved with my materials, but if there is even a sufficiency worked out with my materials, there will be time, and advancing beyond impeachment would be possible.

Any relevant communication can be made to me at my specified contact information of email, telephone, and postal service.

Thank you,

Joseph Mallon - Joseph Mallon, DBA-c, FLMI, FFSI -/

FEBRUARY 2020February 3, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

Will you be able to deal with these important national issues relevant to real people, such as myself, as the Senate impeachment trial is going on? Will you have the time? I hesitate to do anything more unless I know that the work done is being advanced smoothly and is not interfering or just getting backed up more and more. I am continuing to maintain everything and to do everything accordingly concerning my job as a United States director, although I have not yet been dealt with, rewarded, or honored. If you can find the time to do something relevant in the directions of my work, that may add to and help out the situation of the Senate impeachment trial.

Directly Relevant Work Done and Active

My work has been being done though the past three years and has always been important, relevant, and active. I had to go through a long amount of time before my work was dealt with on its according levels and concerning its areas of significance. In such circumstances, all that I could do was to continue my work like a hobby and an investment until there would be the appropriate benefits, rewards, and honors. The substance of my work spans more than a quarter-century and includes and affects many important national issues. You should give my work a chance and present appropriate offers and opportunities to me because my work is important, has already gone through a long time, and would add positively and successfully to the Senate impeachment trial times.

A first question would be how is the situation of dealing with my work going to be possible. The time, money, and functional situation have to be worked out. I can, as I will, immediately continue working remotely. As there would be progress, I would accordingly do more, such as visiting directly and traveling as I should to where I should when I should. I also would work with the situation and provide notice where I should when I have something to base the notice on.

I would also be working with the time situation as best as can be done. I would not expect everything from everyone concerning the time situation, but I would expect a sufficiency, and I would be working with all involved with the real time as best as possible. My time directly is through the moments and is quick and efficient, but my time is also through seasons, years, and decades. Remember that you took three years to deal with me and the United States took more than 25 years to deal with me, while plus, everything on my part remained active, up to date, and successful through all that time.

Example of High-Level Work Active and Loaded with Potential

In the summer of 2019 when I was not yet dealt with by after the fourth of July, I exercised my director powers and established the United States Department of Sovereignty and endowed it with two arms, Sovereign Service and Space Agency. As I have always said, I am not the only one going to be doing all the work. There will be many of the best people working along with me and including with me having my full authority, control, and power. I will be able to make my expressions and have them regarded, and all the best people will be doing what they do to achieve success along the lines of my emphasis. I will give you of the Trump administration an example here with the United States Space Agency.

The space agency has a duty and a mission to work on exploring outer space. Beyond only exploring, the purpose will always be to find additional living environments possible to cultivate into being safe for humankind living and then to facilitate the advancement and establishment of such humankind living. Everything done or found previously or ongoing by any other space enterprise will not be believed or disbelieved but will have to be confirmed by the Sovereign Space Agency. Drone rockets and spaceships will be flown into and throughout space, and eventually rockets and spaceships with human crew and passengers will be flown throughout the regions of outer space. The spaceship speed will eventually exceed the solar system speed of approximately 515,000 miles per hour so that the rocket spaceship can leave from and return to the Earth solar system, and a spaceship fleet will be on the space agency mission.

The rocket spaceship will have power sources capable of refreshing in multiple ways, and there will be 5 primary power sources. The spaceship power will be able to reach a steady strength of forming a layer of gravity that the ship rests on at all times and speeds. The spaceship can be steered in any direction or accelerated or stopped by using the power sources to change or move the gravity. The force greater than any external gravity moves the ship faster than the pressure of the external gravity, just as equal force will make the spaceship hover and to points of locking in place. Optimal spaceship movement and maneuvering will be able to be done from the control room connected technologically to the numerous power sections throughout the ship and that can move the ship in any direction wanted.

One device in the control room will be a miniature powering/steering mechanism that can by itself, or in unison, control the ship. The miniature is what is seen and worked with, and the larger version does the exact same thing simultaneously and is moving and steering the ship. The levels of acceleration and deceleration or moving in any direction or angle are fully adjusted and controlled through this mechanism. The power of the larger functional version of this active mechanism is the strength of the ship in the surrounding gravity, pressure, or forces and can make the ship meet or exceed the surrounding environment pushes or pulls. The mechanism houses a mini power orb and displays the ship large power orb, and this power orb forms a will of the mission, the ship, the ship captain along with the crew and all the ship passengers.

The external shell of the spaceship is very strong. The outer layer is lightweight but also made of the strongest material possible, and there are five layers of this material. The spaceship has a second shell layer that has space and absorption capability included for in case of any kind of penetration or breakage, and there are three layers of this cushion section. The next layer has some technical and mechanical components throughout for external and internal needs of protection and climate control. The next layer is three layers thick and is a final interior shielding, which is followed by softer interior humankind habitat features, such as drywall, wallpaper, and paint.

The spaceship is radiation-proof. No radiation can leak into or pass through the spaceship. There are layers of radiation-resistant materials around the spaceship and active energy forces, including magnetic fields, that completely repel any and all radiation. The radiation blockage is done actively and enduringly through any amount of time and the energy levels or strength of the anti-radiation magnetic fields can be increased or decreased at will from the control room. Sensors remain active, monitoring, and displaying all vital measurements and warning indicators, and while emergency equipment and procedures remain available, the spaceship has highest probability of full safety, staying radiation-proof, and being safe, clean, and healthy for all humankind aboard.

I will not say more now because I only wanted to give an example, and I did not want to reveal too much before I have been dealt with adequately. Consider what I just said about the Sovereign Space Agency being fully carried out by all the best people of various professional fields relevant and with plenty of United States resources and backing. The United States along with humankind would be greatly advanced and benefited. You should deal with me and provide some opportunities to me for the United States Space agency along with the United States Department of Sovereignty.

Senate Impeachment Trial Key/Expert Witness

I know that there is the Senate impeachment trial going on right now. Maybe you would have time to deal with me and these issues I expressed about if you invited me to the trial as one of your key witnesses. You would have to work out all arrangements with me and have some legal briefings with me. Of course, I have to be dealt with, regarded, and treated as being a key/expert witness who is an officer of the court/Senate and with an official professional level of an advanced director of the United States Government. I would have to get a little more familiar with and accustomed to the Washington, D.C. environment for the time I am there, but I would do that efficiently enough, if this was the situation of the opportunity provided.

Conclusion

I presently continue working as a United States director as the situation is what it is through these times. I would like there to be advancement of the situation, and my work has intent and purpose for that. I am actively continuing to do my work on director levels and am immediately ready to do more such work in similar and other ways. I still require an adequacy of communication because I want to know what I am doing and what I am working with in the times. I request that relevant communication be made back to me.

Thank you,

Could have been Senate Impeachment Trial Key/Expert Witness

I know that there was the Senate impeachment trial. You should now have time to deal with me and these issues I expressed about, and you could invite me to the post-trial White House as someone who could have been one of your key witnesses. You would have to work out all arrangements with me and have some legal briefings with me. Of course, I have to be dealt with, regarded, and treated as being a person/official who could have been a key/expert witness who would have been and still is an officer of the court/Senate and with an official professional level of an advanced director of the United States Government. I would have to get a little more familiar with and accustomed to the Washington, D.C. environment for the time I am there, but I would do that efficiently enough, if this was the situation of the opportunity provided.

Conclusion

I presently continue working as a United States director as the situation is what it is through these times. I would like there to be advancement of the situation, and my work has intent and purpose for that. I am actively continuing to do my work on director levels and am immediately ready to do more such work in similar and other ways. I still require an adequacy of communication because I want to know what I am doing and what I am working with in the times. I request that relevant communication be made back to me.

Thank you, Joseph Mallon - Joseph Mallon, DBA-c, FLMI, FFSI -\

MARCH 2020

March 2, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

Are you or anyone here dealing with the matters involved? Are you working out the issues requiring, such as the professional position aspects, the money involved, and the student loans situation? I have not received any communication in the recent times. Who is doing this work involved, and is this work involved getting done or being done by someone here? I request to be communicated back to and to be informed of the status of the situation relevant to my communication.

Remember that I made a claim to here. The claim is valid. I also made an offer. These areas communicated about are important and are time sensitive. Everything here has already been here for three years, so further delay should not be caused.

You have been taking a long time with me working remotely. Do you need me to come in and be here directly for a time or for a meeting? If so, we can arrange that. You can let me know when a good appointment time is and provide me with full access needed to the relevant White House areas. I will be there for the purpose of working out these important national issues involved and to at least have them on track before I leave Washington, D.C.

If you think you can work out everything adequately with me without me being directly present there at the White House, then that is fine, too, but you have to actually work out the issues adequately. You cannot just be not connecting remotely on at least an adequate level. More than enough functionality has to be maintained, and I have to be regarded and treated as being the same as someone directly present there. If you feel that the remote work environment can work successfully ongoing, then let me know, and we will not have to schedule an appointment for a direct meeting there at the White House in Washington, D.C.

Issues to settle – (Nothing will be completely covered or settled, but ideally everything will be at least set on track)

Current professional work situation (High profile employment package and current missions)

Historical background

Student loans (and Education)

Open to issue(s) presented

The currently continuing situation is with me still not adequately dealt with until whenever. To handle this situation ongoing, I am continuing unified with and independent from the United States Government and all divisions, including the executive branch, and the United States Department of Sovereignty and its two divisions continue in this same way as I do. I continue to work in my executive director position and continue with my claim and offer as I also continue the accumulation of my already presented invoice. I continue being totally free and on my own honor to work as I determine appropriate, including in terms of making/earning money beyond my invoice amounts, especially in times before the United States paid the invoice. This procedure will continue until I set otherwise after seeing an adequacy of relevant activity, which includes relevant communication, formal functioning and interaction, my student loans eliminated and student loans relinquishment honor bestowed, and my invoice paid on.

If my offer is going to be honored, I will uphold my end of the agreement. If my offer is not going to be honored, then I have no obligation, and I express that everything involved on my part still has to be worked out and that all of the student loans have to be just plain eliminated in terms of levels of justice. Legal justice is already involved, and the student loans do not just involve good business. If you here of the Trump administration do not honor my long-enduring offer with the student loans, no matter what there is, then you already have right in front of you much evidence of there being not only good business involved. On my part, there is shown the time, rights, merits, worthiness, potential, and credentials involved to justify my offer involving the student loans or the full unrestricted elimination of the student loans.

In terms of these issues, and myself included, not being worked with, I express a broad disclaimer because I am not causing this situation. I am not the one who is not communicating. I am not the one with the materials and issues not taken care of on my part. I am not the one who is not providing opportunities. I am not the one who is taking an excessive amount of time before or without enabling the situation to advance.

Because I am not the one causing this situation of so much accumulating and left requiring as the time passes by, this broad disclaimer is appropriate. I take full responsibility for/ownership of everything on my end and everything involved with these matters being dealt with, but I take no responsibility for/no ownership of these matters not being dealt with. I take no responsibility for there being no relevant communication or for an excessive amount of time passing by with these issues left still requiring.

In addition, I made some tweets on your Tweet site (Twitter @RealTrump.com). I must also report, though, that there was nothing additional. There was no additional communication, matters worked on or worked out, increased regard, or opportunities provided. I did not see anyone, if there was anyone, there recognize or notice me at all. No one knew who I was or thought anything of those wise postings made. The following are the tweets.

* With numerous law cases, some of them go in your favor, and others do not. Merits can come out on top and be dominant (Scales). The same applies to issues active. Other people, though, have not even had their chances at all yet whether that be with law cases or issues.

* The situation depends on what is involved. Being open-minded is how to start, but after advancing, facts have to be weighed for going in right directions. Results have to be considered. Not everyone is good at everything; people are only people. Never underestimate anyone, though.

* I wonder if there was anything better around. Maybe there were some other things present that would have added to the situations. These aspects could have improved the continuing times, too, such as through the 2019 summer, the fall season, the holiday season, and 2020 up to now.

* The student loans issues are overdue at being worked out. Levels of law and justice are involved and cannot be forgotten about. Not only good business is involved. Untangle the Americans, and then everyone can better take care of themselves and each other accordingly.

* Cities that have been referred to as sanctuary cities could be being sanctuaries for Americans rather than others without Americans. Americans are not supposed to be disfavored in American cities. Philadelphia, PA is an example of an American city where such progress requires.

* Nothing is appropriate about allocating $2.5 billion or a larger amount for a coronavirus outbreak or pandemic that has not happened. A worse plague will happen if providing that much money. Such financial allocation is only worthy if fighting against all illnesses.

United States Department of Sovereignty, Director

03-02-2020

March 6, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

I have some communication I have to necessarily communicate. The events of the times made the situation call for me acting in my United States executive director capacity and making and sending this official communication.

The coronavirus does not appear to be a major outbreak and more so appears to be exaggerated. Hasty actions appear to have been taken concerning this virus. Too much money was attempted to be obtained too quickly, $8.3 billion instead of the already excessive $2.5 billion and with an urgency push as if something negative was already run rampant. Most other things, such as tornados ravaging Tennessee, the student loans issues harming finances, and the U.S. and world economies potentially collapsing, were ignored or lessened in value and importance. The United States Department of Sovereignty considers the coronavirus to be a disease just like any other disease, such as a cold or flu, and not worse than ebola or a plague, which may be far worse than the coronavirus.

With the money, $8.3 billion, the appropriate direction to go is to secure the money allocated but to give back what is not needed and would otherwise be a burden to the allocator. Further, the money has to be used as needed through the immediately continuing times, and after the heightened situation is alleviated, the rest of the money has to be used to cure all diseases or any disease.

The health policy of the department is to maintain health and to lessen and eliminate illnesses. Anything causing a disease has to be determined, isolated, stopped, countered, and prevented from happening again. An unhealthy condition has to be advanced beyond to points where the person is as healthy as possible for the person. A healthcare addition, boost, service, or product can be available for if the person willfully wants it and for the purpose of easing, stabilizing, and healing the person. The department policy maintains that healthcare products and services are kept available for using when wanted or needed, including in a free market style, and to boost the person beyond the need for the healthcare product or service.

This coronavirus was pushed so much and so quickly that the situation was comparable to the zombie apocalypse starting. The situation was made to seem like the zombie apocalypse had begun and in a short amount of time, the zombies would be everywhere in the country and around the world. Powers were exercised over people concerning geographical areas, such as country regions, and passenger vehicles, such as cruise ships. Violence broke out among people who were accused and accusers of carrying and spreading the contagion. Some people appeared to be diagnosed with this coronavirus that would have been called something else a year or so ago, and these people were primarily elderly people over the age of 70.

The U.S. Department of Sovereignty maintains all its standard health and safety policies. The coronavirus does not appear to be a worse disease or plague compared to any other disease such as a flu, malaria, or cancer or compared to any other serious health condition such as a heart attack. Further, the coronavirus does not appear to be the same as a start of a zombie apocalypse. If this situation changes, an official report will be made, and appropriate actions will be taken, but the U.S. Department of Sovereignty will not tolerate, condone, or be a part of using healthcare for any other purpose than healing.

Look at all the material requiring before anything was worked out at all. The United States Department of Sovereignty has been expressed about itself since in the summer of 2019 specifically but is still requiring most of its areas to be regarded, dealt with, and funded. A request was made for $3 billion as start-up funding for the department, but the $3 billion has still not yet been securely set, and no staff or personnel have been set yet, either. Even my own personal director invoice still accumulates unpaid in an amount of approximately $230,000 right now. The student loans are involved with my director invoice, too, but the student loans are also still going not worked out yet, unlike the allegedly urgent zombie apocalypse.

I would say some additional research has to be done before legally working on a coronavirus outbreak or pandemic (or zombie apocalypse) that has not yet happened. Look how long legalizing marijuana has taken. Many states legalized marijuana for medicinal and recreational purposes before the United States enabled marijuana to be legally available throughout the country. One excuse for not legalizing marijuana for fully open and legal use throughout the United States was that more research has to be done, but marijuana has been around and researched for thousands of years already. Thus, why should there hastily be work done legally on or with a coronavirus or the zombie apocalypse without more research first?

The coronavirus exaggeration should be curtailed because people's, including the American people's, freedom is at stake. As explained previously, geographical areas, physical structures, and passenger vehicles are being taken over by the coronavirus/zombie hunters. Let these proclaimers of the end times be treated like everyone else. Let them have no authority and only normal pay as they deserve and earn, and let them ask people and treat people by good will. Let them do their work without bothering everyone or anyone else, and let them have to obtain willful consent from anyone else they may become involved with, just like everyone else has to do. Doomsayers of the coronavirus zombie apocalypse cannot have their work glamorized beyond the work that everyone else does and cannot just push their work or will on or beyond anyone or everyone else.

I return to my emphasis that I had through the past years. These areas expressed about, such as professional position, status and authority, pay, student loans and education, historical facts and merits, time involved, communication, and societal rights and functioning, have to advanced at being worked out. A good example right now of a United States issue requiring actively through the past three years and substantially communicated about, including communicated by me to the Trump administration at the White House, is the student loans issue. There are more than 44 million Americans with student loans. All those people and each person has to be settled.

I myself have approximately $250,000 in student loans tied up in this active situation right now, with interest still accumulating and with uncertainty as to how this situation will go, instead of being settled. Further, as can be seen, I am not the one causing the delays to settling those student loans and making the interest continue to accumulate. My claim and offer have been with the Trump administration at the White House since July 2019.

Concerning the education and the credentialing, I want my executive status level professional position of director of a United States department, and I want my doctorate that I earned and the credit for the post-doctoral work I did since 2012 to 2019. I have an excellent dissertation. This quality dissertation has to be honored on its appropriate levels. I did not want to work more than 10 years on or with graduate education for a doctorate or post-doctorate, but I was caused to have to necessarily. These areas are some of what has to be worked out concerning me as an individual and one of the group of tens of millions of people who have to have educational areas, such as student loans, settled.

I am sending this communication because of the times calling for it. I would not have sent this communication otherwise and would have left my emphasis with the previous communication I sent on March 2nd, 2020. I still uphold my previous communication, but because of the recent societal occurrences in the times, I determined the situation appropriate for me to function in my United States executive director capacity and send this pertinent communication to you of the Trump administration at the White House.

I still can receive communication back by means of my open communication lines, and I am most interested in relevant communication with potential of adding positively and successfully.

Thank you, Joseph Mallon - Joseph Mallon, DBA-c, FLMI, FFSI -/

March 12, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

Remember that this month I sent the two attached documents to you here of the Trump administration. These documents and all expressed stand through this entire month of March 2020 and beyond accordingly. You still did not communicate anything back to me yet. You did not work out anything specific with me yet. I would like to have something additional to work with and to be able to provide well-founded notice of that for proceeding on further. Either way, though, I continue maintaining and advancing all involved with the United States Department of Sovereignty.

You of the Trump administration really should do something more than you have been. The only thing additional you can and should do, and that you have not yet done, is to deal with me, which can only be done by dealing with my official materials. You of the Trump administration just got out of one disaster and went right into another. That has consistently happened because you did not work anything out with me in regard of my work, which includes more than a quarter-century concerning this country, U.S.A. You got out of the impeachment proceedings and went right into the coronavirus proliferation.

Based on observed expressions from the Trump administration directly, you here do not favor the coronavirus proliferation, but you are being pushed and caused to go along. If let go unchecked, the coronavirus proliferation can cripple the economy and U.S. society. You obtained approximately $8 Billion in available funds for this coronavirus, and that adds to people wanting to push the alleged outbreak to pandemic levels and keep them there. You cut $8 Billion in funds from New York. The governor of New York was not happy about that, and recently he called the National Guard into New York with a justification of the alleged coronavirus outbreak. These people pushing the coronavirus proliferation are not happy with you, do not like you, and are doing what they can against you.

The main problem with these people using coronavirus proliferation against you, is that they are doing this action against many other people, too, and against the United States and the law. These people proliferating the coronavirus are basing their actions on hate and anger, and basing actions on hatred and anger does not produce right results and is not good for anyone involved. The coronavirus cases made are too easy to make. They are presumptive and require no evidence that is conclusive, serious, or severe. Let the tests be for who wants them when they want them and be stringent to be making no mistakes about anything. If a person is tested positive to having the coronavirus, the situation has to be as serious as the person having a critical illness or dread disease than can enable the person to make a claim on a critical illness/dread disease insurance policy or a claim for an advance payment on a life insurance policy.

The diagnosis for a critical illness/dread disease policy or an advanced payment on a life insurance policy cannot be presumptive in a light way and has to be predominantly definite. You cannot legally lie for an insurance claim payment because if lying for an insurance claim payment, a felony is committed. The felony is against the law and the United States, and this law is enforceable.

With such a large-scale situation of states and the country, U.S.A. involved, a necessity is to ensure that there is not criminal fraud, abuse, and waste going on. Fraud involves intentionally deceiving; abuse is pushing or causing an excess of services to be used beyond what is usually needed or customary, and waste involves over-using resources. The medical profession has run into this illegal occurrence of fraud, waste, and abuse, and that has been with the standard medical profession and insurance, such as Medicare. Medicare mostly involves the more elderly part of the population, and because of various circumstances, the elderly people are more susceptible to these medical shams. The situation is not fair to these elderly people or to anyone if there is medical profession or medical insurance fraud, abuse, or waste that causes victimization of anyone, including any person who is elderly.

I had to add an additional emphasis because of the critical illness/dread disease proliferation that has been happening. I am hoping that better directions are gone over the next weeks and as the warmer weather comes in more and more. I have also attached here the previous two documents I sent so that I could send this message as a reminder. I determined that the time was right for me to send this message because today, March 12th, is my birthday. This message is another part of my birthday celebration. While some other people, too, may have this day as a birthday, mine is extra good and lasts all year to next year and continues on like that.

I still can be communicated back to if anyone from here of the Trump administration has anything to present to me concerning anything relevant involved.

Thank you, Joseph Mallon - Joseph Mallon, DBA-c, FLMI, FFSI -/

United States Department of Sovereignty, Director

03-12-2020

APRIL 2020

April 2, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration), and Special Guests –
Harvard Law School Associates,

The U.S. Department of Sovereignty hereby reports no serious issues with or cases of the coronavirus or covid-19. Observation will continue. At this point, no additional measures need to be taken. Reports will be made accordingly. The department policy will be maintained in terms of keeping all healthy, safe, happy, successful, and wise, and not using or abusing healthcare for any purpose contrary to healing.

Healthcare Background and Policy

Healthcare is necessary for healing in forms of curing illnesses, preventing illnesses, recovery, and maintaining and enhancing health. When people need or want healthcare, the right healthcare is a resource to have available. Sometimes people need to be boosted passed an illness or injury, and healthcare used right provides that boost. Healing then commences to points of full recovery. Healthcare used correctly and within right proportions can prevent illnesses and keep a person healthy and increase a person's health.

Healthcare does not have to be used excessively to work as it should and provide its benefits. Healthcare should be more than enough and not less than enough or too much. Everyone does not have to be, and should not be, bothered with or about healthcare all the time. Healthcare should not be pushed on people and should not be used in a negative way against people or for some ulterior purpose that is not truly healthcare.

The present United States situation was caused to reach a borderline for healthcare. The coronavirus that became severe in China was rapidly expanded from being reported in the United States, to breaking out and being a widespread epidemic in the United States, and to being a full-scale pandemic. The time of this occurrence was less than two months. The first case of the coronavirus in the United States was reported on approximately January 20th, 2020. The first fatality with an alleged cause of coronavirus was on the weekend of March 1st, 2020. By approximately March 11th, the coronavirus was declared to be a pandemic.

Within two months, the coronavirus went from being something happening in China to being a worldwide pandemic and with cases rapidly increasing. The other side of this situation was that the cases included light cases that could have been only a cold or mild flu-like symptoms. China was improving while the other countries, including the United States, were still reported as worsening. China accomplished securing its territory and situation with Hong Kong. Italy and France had immigration problems that could now be tackled from another angle of political action and ability. The United States had an increase of funding that was made available very quickly. This slippery-sloped funding was $2.5 billion that became $8 billion and then a national emergency declaration releasing access to $50 billion and then more than $1 trillion, then $2 trillion following and ending with $2.2 trillion. In these ways, the coronavirus or healthcare no longer had exclusive involvement.

In old days, people of the United States and the world would have just believed what they were told about such occurrences as an outbreak, epidemic, or pandemic. In present days, most people are more skeptical. For instance, in these days people may think that the coronavirus cases made were of too many light symptoms or normal bodily aspects. The weather was cold and not warm yet, so the time of the year was the flu and cold season. Some of the more severe cases were with people, especially elderly people, who had underlying illnesses and then everything ongoing was just called or referred to as (blamed on) the coronavirus. In the present days after years of the Internet and issues like student loans lingering through years, people are more suspicious of major things people in high profile positions say.

The United States society was interrupted. The flow of the society was interfered with and altered to be and go in different ways. Minor things done like this previously, such as in New Jersey with bridge lanes closing in 2016, were questioned as to their legality, and this current alteration occurrence was a major thing that happened throughout states and the country. Reporting a misdiagnosis deliberately for a claim and to mislead is not only malpractice but also is a felony concerning insurance, law, and the United States. Further, everything was done so quickly and hastily that there was not let to be any time to wait for a major weapon against any virus, which was the warmer weather on its way in during the next couple of months.

A present consideration of where the situation is at and is going would be wise for current times. The mass pandemic times have to be settled down, and the society has to return to normal. The issues that have been requiring through the past seasons and years have to be addressed and worked out, and the people involved have to be settled, too.

Student Loans Interest Being Stopped

The student loans interest being stopped is a step in a right direction. Much more is necessary, but the action taken shows that some constructive things can be done. Student loans, especially with their interest, have been burdening millions of American people for decades. Student loans of the past decades were not truly what they were made out to be because they were never really a good deed done for innocent students, as would have been a scholarship or a grant. In addition, in the old times, before my times, the student loans would be taken and would be paid off in one year or so just by the person finishing college and then getting a full-time career type of job, which was caused to no longer happen in the following times.

Without the person getting the job based on the credentials, merits, potential, worthiness, and investment, the person also could not afford to pay for the expenses or lifestyle that traditionally would have been active. The expenses were avoided or accumulated, and the lifestyle was a matter of doing without instead and living and working below deserved standards. The person had the meritorious qualities, though, so the person had to and did keep being successful although the levels in every way were too low. The low levels meant that not enough would come of things or be regarded, especially with a positive flare. Advancing, or having something worked out, was caused to be hard to impossible with these circumstances continuing through seasons, years, and up to even decades.

The other area involved here was that too much of an inherent practice was built into the universities to ignore the facts of the student loans except for the university and each course and every credit getting paid in a timely manner. The financial aspects were often separated from everything else like the financial aspects were not important at all and had no effects or meaning to anything else. In other words, the academics were over here, and the financial aid office was over there. The grades did, though, directly affect the financial aid, such as student loans because if a certain level of grades was not maintained, the person/student would not be able to continue with the academics or student loans. The student loans should not have been caused to be needed anyway, and instead, there should have been grants, scholarships, and perhaps, other rewarding and honoring opportunities, especially when so much potential and so many merits were involved.

The educational establishment, such as the university, and its faculty stayed oblivious to everything, whether that be naturally or as a result of excessive unbalanced policy. The faculty mainly wants to follow the set guidelines without causing a commotion, and everyone expects those guidelines to be right, but sometimes they are not, as in this era they were not. The faculty may distort or skew how things are done and the results produced or caused, or such distortion may be caused to be done after the faculty member's actual work and regardless of the direct faculty member. Whenever a situation matters and the faculty has control of an affect, the push is negatively and in the unwanted direction rather than the direction the person wanted, earned, and deserved. The faculty in the background does not regard the person as being on the level of the merits or credentials, such as a Master's degree or a doctorate level, so the person can never have a strong enough say or a say that stands.

A couple of other unethical academic practices is to attack character and to negate expressions made. Attacking the person's character makes the person seem like a bad or lesser person, and of course, these people doing that are better and superior to this mischaracterized person in those active times when it matters. The negating of the expressions was in terms of expressing something contrary to what the person said and doing that enough to make the person seem to be not saying anything of substance or even anything at all. In either situation, the person is left on a lesser level and made to seem as not being important or as not being anything at all, as in not being there or a part of anything involved. No matter how diligently a person would try, the person could not be, and was not let to be, successful with anything, including the student loans, with these unethical occurrences going on repeatedly and consistently at the universities.

The student loans interest should have been stopped years ago, along with everything else bad about student loans. The interest should be stopped now, and there is much good about the student loans interest being stopped now because of the societal interruptions being caused by an alleged pandemic. There is much more to do, too, though, because everything done with the student loans and their interest cannot be based only on an alleged societal illness or pandemic. Through years, much was said about working out the student loans fairly and successfully based on merits and honors. Merits and honors are an important basis for advancement and more so than an alleged illness or pandemic. Years are more consistent and sustainable than a short-term illness or pandemic alleged through a few weeks as compared to years of the student loans emphasis.

People are going to want to be successful because of being meritorious and not because of being sickly or having an illness. People are going to want to be successful in a society because of doing well in that prosperous society and not because that society became ill and sickly with a pandemic. The main point is that while stopping the student loans interest because of the alleged pandemic was good and a step in a right direction, more is needed and has to be permanent and based on the years of merits. The materials that have been present through the past three years concerning student loans have to be worked through and worked out for the student loans situation to worthily and sustainably be right.

Temporary Stop of Student Loan Payments and Discharge of $10,000 or More

The action of stopping student loan payments through times set as coronavirus/covid-19 pandemic times is additionally a step forward, and another step forward would be discharging at least $10,000 in student loan debt for every person who has student loan debt. Further has to be gone, though, and that cannot be forgotten about because years of worthy efforts were made concerning the student loans and far beyond only a few steps taken in or for a short amount of time. Continued progress has to be made. Securing an assurance that each student loan case will be fully worked out acceptably would add further to progress. Keeping everything or anything in jeopardy by means such as taking action of inaction or obfuscation must not continue.

Student Loans Given by Good Will $0 from the $2.2 Trillion Stimulus Package

The U.S. society stimulus package of 2020 was for the purpose of enabling the society to continue without collapsing and to proceed toward full restoration. Money was set to go to mostly all of the people of the society and to many businesses. Some funds were set to go to loans for businesses, and other funds were to go to recuperate some industries, such as airlines, healthcare, and delivery services. Other areas were whatever they were, but one area was there because of it being there through the past years to the present and being one of the largest national issues of the country, and that area was student loans. This student loans issue affects the economy because more than 40 million people have student loans, and money Americans allocate to student loans is less money that Americans can use in other directions of the society.

If too much money goes to student loans, too little money goes in other directions. If student loans cause a lack of ability to do things or cause a lack of opportunities in various directions, then that is less that Americans can do, less accomplishments achieved, and less added to the society and its economy. If student loans were lessened in their severity or made to be out of the way, more could be done in the society and the economy. A good will factor is also involved with student loans because the student loans went to innocent students who were doing their academic work and earning credentials and merits through college, graduate, or professional education. With the amount of money involved with the stimulus going up to $2.2 trillion and the student loans issue being among the issues involved, where is the good will, responsibility, caring, and propriety when no money was allocated to the student loans issue.

No real money of the $2.2 trillion was set to be spent on or to go to the student loans. That is out of $2.2 trillion. All the issues involved should have been included and taken care of when such an enormous amount of money was involved. If all the issues involved cannot be taken care of out of $2.2 trillion, that is significantly troubling and not pleasing when considering a good will situation. The student loans issue has been present, worked on, known about, and not settled through the past years and was not there arbitrarily or unworthily with the 2020 stimulus considerations.

All that was done with the student loans was a declaring of some tax advantages to businesses if the businesses were to contribute toward working out student loans to be paid. Something like this method was not unheard of previously and is something that I myself suggested a long time ago in the summer of 2019, but also, with additional considerations included. With the other considerations left out and not included, expressing only that businesses should contribute to enabling the student loans to be paid is nothing but disrespectful and oppressive. I was certainly not given any credit as to previously making this kind of suggestion along with other considerations, and the situation of people going through past years making good faith efforts concerning student loans was not accounted for either.

The tax advantages for businesses contributing toward helping to pay student loans was not real or direct money from the $2.2 trillion. This issue of student loans being involved with the stimulus package was also shown with Donald Trump (Trump) waiving interest on the student loans until whenever the alleged pandemic was over. Trump would not have done that if the student loans issue was not involved, and him doing that also showed that something could be done. The trouble was that this waiving of the interest was only temporary and was not based on knowing there would be $2.2 trillion involved with the stimulus package. In addition, the waiving of the interest was, like the businesses tax advantages, no real or direct money from the enormous amount of money of the $2.2 trillion.

Another thing that Trump did before the stimulus package was worked through and that showed that the student loans were an issue involved was that he waived the student loan payments for everyone with student loans. That showed that could be done and was ready to be further worked with concerning the stimulus package that reached the enormous amount of money of $2.2 trillion. The trouble here was that the waiving of the student loan payments was not conclusive and was only temporary. Later during the setting of the stimulus package the waiving of the student loan payments was set to be for 6 months, rather than permanent. A permanent fix was needed and not just a temporary one, and at the rate of $2.2 trillion, the permanent fix needed is what was expected.

Another good thing done was that after Trump said to waive the interest and the payments, the student loans were placed on an administrative forbearance. This administrative forbearance was set to last for a significant amount of time, which was up to the year of 2030 (10 years and much longer than 6 months). That was good, but the trouble was whether this situation was truly going to last and not be taken away arbitrarily. Would the student loans issue be truly worked out within the 10 years and not just pushed back on everyone with interest included after the 10 years? In addition, the 10-year administrative forbearance was placed on the student loans before knowing that $2.2 trillion would be involved with the stimulus package, and no one should have to wait for the next $2.2 trillion to be allocated relevantly.

The student loans issue was left continuing. This area has to be worked out because it has not yet been. The stimulus package was not for the exclusive purpose of working out the student loans issue, and the stimulus package certainly did not do that. While the stimulus could have done more with the student loans issue but did not, that does not mean that more does not have to be done. As has been being expressed through the past years (more than a quarter-century), the student loans issue has to be worked out fully and completely.

United States Department of Sovereignty Part of United States Governance

The U.S. Department of Sovereignty has its areas of expertise, rights, and authority. The land, area, bounds, functioning, advancing, and interacting of the United States are all within the bounds of the U.S. Department of Sovereignty. Keeping the area in harmony and functioning and flowing with unison and specialties and keeping there being many levels of safety, health, peace, happiness, and prosperity stay endeavors the department engages in. A sufficiency of the U.S. Department of Sovereignty being included in decisions and actions is necessary, but there has not recently been, there still is not, and there does have to get to being that sufficiency of inclusion. The situation and actions cannot continue as they have been because the present and future of the United States cannot be put in jeopardy without a regard to and regardless of the U.S. Department of Sovereignty.

An alleged pandemic was pushed on the United States area without regarding the department and its emphasis concerning the situation. Huge amounts of money were obtained from the United States resources without regarding the department and listening to or adhering to its proclamations or policies. Everyone likes the increased money flow and receiving some additional money or deriving some benefits from the money increase, but also, the long-enduring issues and responsibilities have to be taken care of, too, and cannot be abandoned and left neglected. The future accounting for that increased money flow has to be settled, also, and can only be settled by the U.S. Department of Sovereignty being regarded and worked in accord with, and an opposite or lesser situation will not suffice. Everyone, including myself, would like to have an additional $1000 or more from a financial stimulus added into the U.S. society, but also everyone, including myself, wants the job, career, status, life, and history earned and deserved through the years.

Years of Director of the United States Department of Sovereignty

I have had my director level material with the United States through more than a decade and including approximately three years with the Trump administration. My material I am referring to first went through various communication and presentation means to points of the United States official jobsite website. My material stayed on the official United States jobsite website through more than 10 years. When my official director level material was at the White House during the Trump administration times, the material was in the personnel department of the White House, associated with the United States government. When considering these facts reasonably, a person could understand why being not regarded and seemingly needing to do everything all over again or in the first place is unacceptable, and instead, these long-enduring areas have to be honorably settled.

Giving every person of the United States $1000 is nice, but also, everyone still has to have, and wants, the person's right job and future for receiving the $1000 or more the next month and continuing, too. I have to have my right job, my real pay, and my true career. I have to be on my right status level and have benefits I should have and that are good for me and everything and everyone involved with me. I have many important matters that have to be taken care of and worked out for the best of all involved and including the U.S. society and its people, and also, I have to fulfill my duties and responsibilities. National issues are involved with and affected by these areas.

The student loans issue has to be settled for everyone, including myself. Stopping the interest on the student loans for a time is good but will not be enough to work everything out with the student loans. Everything has to be worked out with the student loans. They cannot be let to go back to the way they were or to continue as they have been. In many areas of issues requiring to be worked out, no one was even talking to me, although I was an important person, and the issues were never worked out like that through those years of more than 10 years.

With everything or anything done, these areas long-enduring and requiring, cannot be forgotten about. These areas have to also be successful, and they have to be worked out successfully. Other things cannot be done instead of taking care of these areas, and other things can only be done reasonably if these areas are taken care of, too. I continue watching in all relevant directions. I have been and continue requesting relevant communication and for the matters involved to be worked out by the parties in the positions of responsibility.

Declaration of Continuity Up to, Through, and Beyond Trump Administration Times and Partisanship

I also declare that these issues have to be worked out mutually and successfully in the immediate times and continuing. If they are not worked out adequately, they still have to be worked out in and concerning the Trump administration times but also beyond them. With whichever regime continuing with the United States Government, these areas of the U.S. Department of Sovereignty, along with myself, have rights to settlement. I specifically express and declare these areas to be non-partisan and pertinent to any political party. These are issues and rights concerning the United States and beyond any party, person, or group functioning within the bounds of or concerning the United States.

Conclusion

The recommendation is for there to be a continuance of right directions gone. Further advancements have to be made. Even I myself still have to be dealt with and settled concerning my official materials I have communicated through the past years. The aspects involving me include the student loans and education but also my advanced level professional position and historical background and status. I eagerly anticipate more in these directions of overcoming injustice and any alleged or confirmed illness, outbreak, or pandemic concerning the United States.

Relevant and constructive communication can be made to me at any time.

United States Department of Sovereignty, Director

04-02-2020

May 1, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

Advancing beyond the pandemic times still has to be fully done. After that, there has to be a going back to the societal situation not having any major issue affecting its functioning. At the same time, the differences of before and after the pandemic have to be assessed and worked out, including with the differences of the economic and financial situations affected by the $2.2 trillion stimulus package. The issues, such as student loans, professional positions, and the U.S. Department of Sovereignty, actively requiring during the time continuance before the pandemic times but delayed or interfered with by the pandemic times have to be gotten back on track to be worked out. These issues cannot be forgotten about or pushed aside, and working on these issues may have to be further adjusted to include any delays or distortions caused by the pandemic times or any related interferences.

Active Issues Had to Go Through Longer Time

All in the directions of these active issues, such as student loans, professional positions, and the U.S. Department of Sovereignty, had to wait longer and go through the pandemic times. The conditions of the extra time and the society have to be considered, too, because these issues have to be settled in times of after the pandemic rather than being settled in times before the pandemic times. The values of everything may be lower, and plus, there is just plainly more time added on.

You here of the Trump administration at the White House do not have my professional position dealt with yet or adequately worked out in any way. I wonder about you people here, especially in terms of which team you are on or, perhaps even, which country you are siding with and favoring. I am an American, and I presented American issues dealing with the United States of America and in the interests of Americans. I should not be here in 2020 still not dealt with yet concerning these vital areas active and requiring through the past years to the present. Because of my merits and potential, there was supposed to be a proper regard, and offers and opportunities were supposed to be presented to me in rewarding, respectful, and honorable terms.

I did already previously make a claim and an offer. The trouble with me doing that is that you here at the White House are the ones who were supposed to do that, and with me doing that, instead, I am still here not dealt with yet almost a year later. My claim still stands, and my offer continues accordingly at my discretion in consideration of the times and circumstances. To summarize, my claim was for my professional position and the salary from it (see Invoice). My offer was for $100,000 of my student loans to be paid from my salary built up and owed to me and for the rest of my student loans to be a Student Loans Relinquishment Honor.

Only One Person, Such as Myself, Not Supposed to be Only One Doing Relevant Work

Someone here in addition to myself should do some relevant work. Nothing has been presented to me yet concerning anyone additional to myself doing relevant work. Something relevant would have to be presented to me in an appropriate way in order for me to consider what it is and to work with it. As previously said, originally offers were supposed to be made to me, and opportunities were supposed to be provided to me and including with me receiving an adequacy of benefits, rewards, and honors due. There has been none of this positive reality yet, but this right direction is certainly requiring and is far overdue.

In the very early times, I just communicated about something substantial and looked and waited for the issues to be addressed adequately and for relevant communication to be made back to me. I made many efforts and did everything that was good and right to do, but excessively nothing was presented to me and nothing was worked out with me. At the same time, other people did not know what was going on and did not or could not do anything relevant to add to the situation. Really, though anyway, the parties in positions of responsibility and who had the involvement, resources, and abilities were supposed to do their relevant work and were not supposed to leave everything neglected, cut off communication, and do other things instead.

These situations caused were often difficult to go through instead of the mutual situations that should have and otherwise would have been there. The difficult situations were lesser than the other more mutual situations, and as that continued over a period of time, the timelines were not the same, and much that had good value was ruined like that. The value is not always the same as time goes by, especially if too long goes by, and nothing could hold up for as long as these parties took to do their relevant work on their levels. The involvement, relevancy, and importance were real, and the time did not just belong to these parties, and others had rights, too, and I saw, experienced, and evaluated all this through the times of those years.

I acquired direct knowledge and experience in all these areas and concerning everything else I knew and became knowledgeable about during the continuance. I worked further and went in the direction of law because I saw all these things, as described, and had the direct experience with the occurrences that most reasonable people would not consider as being fair. I went into law school and did well but was not treated as though I did well, and then, again, when I had to be listened to and worked with concerning the relevant areas, no one would do that. I did much relevant and successful work, and that includes concerning the involved law schools, parties, and issues, but no one did enough on their levels to understand what I was expressing about or to even believe me. They saw the manifestations of my expressions through the following years and may even believe or understand some of it now, but that does not mean that I or the matters involved have been dealt with yet.

I used to think that I would be regarded with my emphasis. I used to think that people would be friendly and mutual with me and would respond back to me in a positive and constructive way. I repeatedly found out that was not the case, and while I always continued doing what I was supposed to do, other people did not know all this or that I was involved with all this. Other people mainly think that they would be regarded and dealt with right when or if they had to be, and they do not know or understand the opposite, which I too much saw. I continued being successful and maintained my policies and practices of not ever excessively or intentionally treating people like that, but again still, that did not mean that I was regarded or that anything was worked out with me yet.

Recently Worked at Providing Some Inside Information

The recent work I did of providing a little inside information to Harvard Law School associates brought back some memories of the times from a quarter-century ago. In the present times, I only wanted to mention about my relevant work involving the student loans, laws, the White House, education, and the United States during the past three years. I wanted to provide a little information that was relevant, helpful, and that was not previously known about. I also wanted to provide an opportunity for if wanting and able to deal with any of the relevant matters. The current situation after years is so heavily weighted with the herein described inherent background that nothing more was possible presently, even with Harvard Law School.

For a brief time as I reviewed the relevant Harvard Law School related materials, I saw and was reminded of that positive reality of being regarded concerning the emphasis without a serious, uncalled for, and uncompromising contrast. I realized that I have been through a long time without only experiencing that positive regard and mutual direction and that me knowing more than only that mutuality is equally important to know and remember. The areas I have been expressing about still are a vital part of the situation and have to be worked out, and the positive overcoming the negative through many years is the real way the positive was maintained for continuance. There has not been only mutuality or reasonable agreement, and there has not just been support when sought, appropriate or even needed. Still the positive, or the good, the right, the true, the worthy was maintained and has to be secured as is due, appropriate, and necessary.

I express what I say, and everything does not have to be fully understood, but only an adequacy of an understanding and regard is sufficient. This described situation can be seen with the material I have had at the White House through the past years. Years went by before the material, or anything involved, was worked out mutually or agreeably, but the positive—the good, worthy, right—held up against the contrasts and remained requiring to be settled as was always important, appropriate, and necessary. Consider how the United States societal situation has been before these matters were worked out, although the material has been here at the White House through the past three years directly and in addition to indirectly through the past quarter-century. Without even a full understanding of all expressed here, for you to regard that the situation and its continuance has within its bounds all herein described, would be wise for people on levels associated with here at the White House.

Situation Cannot Stay Same and Has to Improve

The way the situation has been cannot stay the same and has to improve. With myself, I have to be able to be dealt with. I cannot have to wait for someone to deal with my reports before I am dealt with. I have to be able to be dealt with and just make my reports. I cannot have to wait for someone else to regard and deal with my reports before I am dealt with, if I am even going to be dealt with at all, and I have to be much more efficiently dealt with than that.

Conclusion

Presently and ongoing, I am continuing to watch for if anything is presented to me. I will keep doing what I am supposed to do and as I previously said I am doing. My report is present for the month, this month of May 2020, and I will continue making my reports to express about the active situation of the times. I would do more and will do more if I am, or any of the matters involved are, dealt with in some relevant way. There is still plenty of potential on my part, and advancement in my directions would be good for the society to advance beyond the pandemic times and the economic effects, so a presentation should be made to me.

Additional Section concerning United States Sovereign Wealth

I also wanted to add in a statement saying that the U.S. Department of Sovereignty should be formally set as the main department for handling the United States sovereign wealth, which includes all assets, national (sovereign) debt, currency, and metals, but also for the department to be set with formal authority to work in association with (along with, in collaboration with, in agreement with) other relevant departments and agencies of the United States. The national debt of trillions of dollars has to be handled, and including with the additional money used for the 2020 stimulus (economic recovery) package. The money of trillions of dollars has to be accounted for in terms of paying down and paying off any debt involved, retaining the value of the currency, and adding in ways of making revenue up to levels of the trillions of dollars involved.

The department has to be set with full authority concerning if there is ever any consideration of a world or global currency. This department has the knowledge and expertise concerning any type of global currency, and everything is not necessarily just an easy going forward in this area of more than the past quarter-century. Gold is good and many countries have gold, but gold is old and has been used before. Digitizing gold has been done in the past, too, and is not necessarily a better monetary method. Using only numeric digits will not work out because the digits have to be standing for something and cannot be only the numeric digits by themselves.

The priority in the immediate times is to secure the value of the American dollar, reach a full ability of handling the trillions of dollars in United States debt, and secure a few substantial and steady revenue streams. We can stay with the American dollar because that is already established. We do not have to abandon the American currency in difficult times. We can move on or further from the American currency in good times, sound times, and economically prosperous times and when there are definite incentives rather than only seeming necessities.

The United States Department of Sovereignty is the only department with the knowledge and expertise to lead in these areas of the United States sovereign wealth. With the United States Department of Sovereignty leadership along with the collaboration and unity of the other departments, this department and country will be successful with the sovereign wealth of the United States and including concerning the world or globally.

COVID-19 War

This war is not a matter of country against country and is a war of good against bad, right against wrong, truth against deceit, justice against injustice, and health against illness. Too many people, and for too long, have been being hurt by the bad side, and too many people for too long have not known the difference between who is directly or indirectly on the one side or the other. People could have even been a part of the impropriety themselves without knowing it because of being either directly or indirectly led astray or just plainly deceived. Too much for too long has been being left out and neglected, and many things and people have not been being given any fair chances at all. If there is going to be better, then there has to be better for real, and the improprieties cannot continue, and there has to be more so be plenty of what there is supposed to be in every direction.

Materials from me have been presented for a very long time. My work and career remained active and important for more than a quarter-century. In the present times, I have had official communication at the White House through the past three years. I have not been worked with mutually yet, and I have not yet received communication back from the White House since June 2017. The only way for there to be progress and a better situation is for mutual work to be done with me in accord with my career and, as a basic and preliminary, for there to be relevant communication from the White House to me.

My side is the right side, the good side, the side of justice, and the only side that is a real or true side, and this side is the side of the real United States. The evidence is in my materials, the consistency of my materials, and the emphasis of my materials through the past years to the present. Everything still being active shows the validity of my materials and the emphasis. On my website through the past years since long before 2017, I had a statement saying to be on my side so that there is a side, and that is a very true statement. If you want to win the war and be with the winning side of the war, then you have to be on the right side, your own side, the only side that is a side, this side, my side, our side, the side of the real United States and the real world and universe, and you have to relevantly communicate back to me.

JUNE 2020June 1, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration), (also, Happy Birthday Donald Trump for June 14th),

In the times when the work situation is right and successful, I will be working on my appropriate levels. I work standard hours, 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Monday through Friday, excluding weekends and holidays. I work the hours with my own scheduling and considerations of the scheduling. I do not have to, although I can, work more hours than only 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Monday through Friday. I can consistently work more hours, but I have previously done that through years and should not have to work more than 40 hours in a week. My own work does not usually need more than 40 hours in a week, and only sometimes it does.

Recent Work Situation

The recent times have been times when I was still not dealt with yet and was, thus, not working on my full status levels. Many hours beyond a usual amount were steadily worked to achieve successful situations on those levels. Improvements and advancements required constantly through those times. All the good and merits kept being lessened or negated, and even the best societal times were caused to be not enough to advance the situation. The good times were caused to be so deficient that the 2020 pandemic was gone into.

Current Pandemic Times

The pandemic did not have to be as bad as it was, but with the situation being caused to be so far off-track and continuing with so many unfulfilled responsibilities, the pandemic was caused to be far worse than otherwise. As of in June 2020, the pandemic is still lingering but is in finishing times. As long as the pandemic does not suddenly turn much worse, the pandemic will substantially if not entirely subside through this month of June and continuing through the 2020 summer. Businesses have to be going again as best as possible and in terms of free trade and a free market. People have to reach points of comfortably not wearing protective masks outdoors, in the public, or in businesses.

The virus tests have to be improved to being less broad and less stringent. Everyone who has any trace of something resembling a detectable virus aspect cannot be singled out as being a case. Everything that is something that could possibly be considered as being detectable of a virus aspect cannot be a signal indicating a bad illness (a dreaded disease) that makes a case. A person cannot just be said as having an illness when the person has no symptoms because if doing that, anyone can be said to have the illness and then later be made more susceptible and be caused to have the illness. In addition, any kind of contagious illness cannot be let to spread across extensive geographical expanses by merely making and counting cases.

There are some good things that happened during or from the pandemic. The air and water of the environment became cleaner. Many people with companies went to working from home/working remotely. Humanity became closer to curing the common cold and preventing or stopping any kind of virus that there may be around. Also, the true issues requiring to be worked out remained requiring to be worked out, and people who were doing well remained doing well as best as possible through those times and going toward reaching better times.

Part of the Job

A part of my job is preservation. I kept everything important preserved. I do not keep preserved what is not important or not good, but I keep preserved what is good and important. All on my part stays active, and I stay active on my levels accordingly with my job. I always maintain a successful situation with my work, and success is achieved when dealing with me and being mutually successful.

I am always on guard and am guarding through all the working hours, and I am always guarding everything in every role I am in and concerning my job. I watch over all the areas of the surroundings and of all the functioning going on. I am constantly reviewing, evaluating, and contemplating everything going on and all options. I take everything into consideration, and I work out everything as best as possible with all things considered. I overwatch everything and the surroundings all the time when I am working and even when I am sitting or seeming to be completely still.

I have been doing my job for a long time and doing everything that was supposed to be done. I have had to do too much work, though, through the past years, and I still presently have to also because the issues involved have still not been worked on adequately by the responsible parties additional to myself. I made presentations and explained everything as well as could be, but I am still here going through all this extra work and such and explaining about everything. I have not been dealt with yet, and the matters involved have not been dealt with yet. No relevant communication has been made to me yet, but communication was made on my part through the times since years ago, and I still have functional communication lines maintained.

Necessity for Job Advancement for All Involved

I request for you here of the Trump administration to adequately address the active issues involved, communicate relevantly to me, and be prepared for a response that must be respectfully regarded and followed-up on mutually and in regard of the emphasis. The mutuality, cooperation, and respect must continue and especially in regard of the honorable facts involved and also the serious reality of how long you here, and others, took to regard and deal with the honorable facts. Here alone, three years passed by with everything active and requiring, fully presented, and very important and effectual to the situation and people involved. These serious facts involved have to be kept known and understood. I expect to see from the Trump administration adequate respect, cooperation, and mutuality.

You of this administration should straighten-out the situation now, or you may not be able to at a later time. You have to have this situation progressing at moving positively, being mutual and successful, and adding to your campaigning for a second

U.S. Presidential term, and that is the ONLY way for you here to be decisively successful. You have my material to refer to for anything relevant to me. Especially important is for you on your levels to secure my professional position of a U.S. executive director because that affects many other things.

Claim and Offer Previously Made

I made a claim. I reiterate my claim again. I made an offer, and I further express my offer and its continuance at my discretion accordingly. I sent my invoice again (see attached invoice). I again officially request securing of and adequate payment to the U.S. Department of Sovereignty (see U.S. Department of Sovereignty invoice).

When you take care of these matters on your levels, other accomplishments will be possible. These areas have to be taken care of first. You should not do anything else instead of taking care of these areas. These areas affect most if not all other areas, so these areas should be taken care of first and foremost. These areas required through the past three years, and plus, they require now, so that is telling you something about the continuance in terms of these areas being of vital importance.

Republican Party and U.S. Presidential Campaigning

In addition, a major part of you campaigning toward a second U.S. Presidential term is the Republican party. I expect you to provide adequate information to Republican party members and to provide them with plenty of incentives and to have them provide plenty of incentives to become advanced and add to advancing anything relevant to me. My involvement with the Republican party goes back many years but is not just easy because I was not dealt with right or well through those past years. A balancing out passed those previous years of disconnections is necessary, and advancing at working with my honorable merits through the previous years and continuing is essential. Those previous years I mention go all the way back to the early 1990s and are far beyond only the recent times but involve the recent and current times, too, and including in terms of campaign fund raising.

U.S. Executive Director Position has to be Secured

You here of this Trump administration have work to do for real. You have to do that work and be successful for real. A main priority is to advance the situation with me because I am not dealt with yet, and my United States executive director level professional position is not yet secured. You have to make sure I am paid my salary (again, see invoice). One-hundred thousand dollars of my invoiced salary has to go on my student loans, and the rest of my more than $200,000 student loans has to be set as a Student Loans Relinquishment Honor.

My dissertation, which is excellent, has to be honored, and my doctorate has to be issued to me by a qualified American school. I completed a doctoral business program in 2012, and that has to be settled and including with the following years settled as post-doctoral work done by the summer of 2019. I do not think we are done with working with law, either, because I originally did work on my law degrees and including up to doctoral law levels before or without being dealt with, rewarded, or honored. The necessity is for the facts and laws to be dealt with and for the rewards and honors to be provided. I want to have a legal campaign going, too, and with me having full authority because law was often significantly involved, and in the past, I really did good, honorable, and meritorious work with law.

The law is a secondary area right now with me because I have been working primarily and necessarily in business through the recent past years. There is always much law involved, and I maintain an extensive and highly honorable law background, but also, I am not myself actively working directly with or on law. I would like to do more with law and probably will after I am dealt with adequately concerning my merits involved and when knowing I am definitely going to be regarded and honored concerning the laws involved. Obviously, as is evidenced from the past history, I cannot just be not dealt with when I make a deliberate emphasis concerning something important, such as a situation can be involving law.

Remember that I am supposed to be referred to as "Your Honor" when the situation involves anything official, legal, or societal, and you can see how long it has been before I have been being properly referred to in official circles. As I have said before in some other places, the honorable reference is not all based on working with law specifically but is based on the significant societal reality involving me through the past more than a quarter-century. Such a long time went by with the matters and laws involved not being dealt with, that the present situation has depth, and I have been working and working in business up to successful, but still unacknowledged, levels. I do not expect everything different all at once, but I expect a positive and progressive situation consistently moving in right ways. I finished the first edition of my excellent dissertation and a business doctoral program in 2012, but now, eight years later in 2020, I still have not been but have to be formally and officially regarded as being on doctoral levels.

My excellent dissertation and doctoral program completion with an A level grade point average (GPA) still has to be honored by my doctorate being issued to me. The advanced doctoral level work I did since 2012 through to now in 2020 has to be acknowledged, too. The highly advanced doctoral level of my materials at the White House in Washington, D.C. has to be honored, and my very enlightened material I have had at and concerning the U.S. Department of Education has to be honored, too. I have to be secured as having my professional position of a United States government executive director, and my student loans have to be settled and including with a Student Loans Relinquishment Honor bestowed to me formally and officially. Law is always included here and is in the background, but you can see how much business is in the foreground, too, and that has to be successfully completed before doing other things like working directly with law.

In addition, because I have been through the past quarter-century before the laws involved were dealt with and while I continued preserving the law and advancing the administration of justice, I declare full immunity concerning any contrasting emphasis involving law or anything else. Again, I am supposed to be referred to as "Your Honor" when anything official is involved. My word has to be regarded as law, and that is whatever degree my emphasis is on. Sometimes this regard shown to me is important; sometimes it is just nice, but always, it is the right thing to do and leads to best continuances and outcomes. Therefore, be sure to have it known and understood up front, that I have full diplomatic, legal, and official immunity.

Furthermore, the student loans situation of my student loans being settled is based on a claim and offer I made in July 2019. The claim and offer were led up to, and the continuance since July 2019 to now in June 2020 was with a building up. The situation is a deal worked out on the student loans, and that deal is accordingly with my meritorious situation, which includes advanced level work, credentials, wealth, experience, knowledge, wisdom, and history. Along with other things, I contribute a precedent for all the student loans so that they can all be better worked out successfully and agreeably and so that the continuing United States student loans situation can be improved. The student loans situation cannot continue the way it has been because the same historic national problem-issue will happen again, so some corrections, adjustments, and advancements are needed concerning education and its funding.

Conclusion

I am looking for your communication back to me. I will work with it when I receive it. There is no time for there to not be true progress. You can achieve true progress only by successfully working out this situation with me, the one who connects in all these various areas and is already proven in the continuing active 4 years and next 4 years. I am watching for any offers, opportunities, presentations, and communication you have to present to me.

JOSEPH, interest is accruing while your student loan payments are postponed.
Pay a little now and save a lot later.

We want you to be aware that interest accrues during the forbearance period on your loans. If the interest is not paid as it accrues, it may be capitalized (added to your principal balance).

Remember, you can shorten or cancel your forbearance period at any time.

Here's the Unpaid Principal and the Unpaid Interest that has accrued as of 06/01/20:

Unpaid Principal:	$229,510.49
Unpaid Interest:	$30,967.04
Current Balance (Total):	$260,477.53

Remember: You're obligated to repay your loans after periods of forbearance expire in accordance with the terms of your Promissory Notes.

Pay a little now, save a lot later. Even if you are not required to, we encourage you to make payments, no matter how small, to reduce your future obligation.

- By making payments now, you can potentially reduce the amount of interest that you'll have to pay over the life of your loans.

- If you choose not to send payments, you will not be considered past due, since payments are not required at this time.
- Postponing payments can increase your total cost if accrued interest is added to your principal balance. Consider paying some or all of this interest to help keep future payments manageable.

Important disclosure(s)

Capitalization of Interest

Unpaid interest may be capitalized (added to your principal balance) at the end of the grace period, at the end of a deferment, at the end of a period of forbearance, when the loan enters repayment, and upon certain conditions while enrolled in an income-driven repayment (IDR) plan. Please see your Promissory Note for additional details. Capitalization increases both the principal balance and total loan cost.

Available repayment options

Repayment options are available for federal loans, including Income-Based Repayment, Pay As You Earn, Revised Pay As You Earn, Income-Contingent Repayment, Income-Sensitive Repayment, Graduated Repayment, and Extended Repayment plans, loan consolidation, deferment, forgiveness such as Public Service Loan Forgiveness, cancellation, discharge and forbearance. Because not every customer will qualify, visit Navient.com to learn more or call us. You can also obtain information about federal student loan options at StudentAid.gov, StudentAid.gov/manage-loans/repayment, and StudentAid.gov/manage-loans/forgiveness-cancellation.

Electronic check conversion

When you provide a check as payment, you authorize us either to use information from your check to make a one-time electronic fund transfer from your account or to process the payment as a check transaction. When we use information from your check to make an electronic fund transfer, funds may be withdrawn from your account as soon as the same day we receive your payment, and you will not receive your check back from your financial institution.

JULY 2020July 1, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

The month of July is the middle of the summer and requires accountability of the Trump administration. The Trump administration is either corrupt or corrupted, and which one that is should be immediately figured out and acted on by the Trump administration, especially by Donald Trump. The fourth of July is included in the month of July and is time for the Trump administration to factually show respect to America and the American people. July fourth is a significant holiday in the United States because this holiday stands for freedom and independence and not the opposite, which is excessive debt, servitude, dehumanization, and debasement. The holiday is a celebration of the United States becoming a free and independent nation, and no longer being subject to nefarious dictates against the interests of America and Americans. Americans celebrate being free people and of a free country that everyone should respect, appreciate, and honor, including everyone of the Trump administration.

American Freedom

The free American country has a government for the people, by the people, and of the people and not just a government of some people who take all American resources for themselves and do and say whatever only they want. The American government was originally designed to protect the people and their freedoms such as freedom of the press, freedom of religion, and freedom of speech. Americans are free to peaceably assemble and to communicate to the American government to request issues be addressed realistically, effectively, and mutually. Americans are free to not let their freedoms be abused or misused and to take actions against injustices and in defense of their freedoms. Americans are free to safeguard and be protected against interests or intents contrary to the peace, health, wealth, safety, and happiness of Americans.

U.S. Department of Sovereignty Year of Relevance Since July 2019

Last year in July 2019, the U.S. Department of Sovereignty was established along with its two agencies. This department has gone since then to now in July 2020, a year later, before being dealt with, regarded, rewarded, or honored. This lack of dealing with a very important department of the United States was an indirect cause of many of the societal problems in the United States through the past year. If knowing about the Department of Sovereignty, the societal problems being caused by a lack of dealing with the department would be easily seen. These areas have to be worked on and not other areas that leave the same problems and all the issues and people still requiring improvement.

This U.S. Department was established in 2019 and comes from 2019, but was not only established and coming from 2019. There was a quarter-century background that was around first, and there was a two-year currently active era before the U.S. Department of Sovereignty was named in July 2019. Presently is a year later, and societal issues have been flaring up, but these U.S. Department of Sovereignty areas are the ones that went through the whole year and have to be dealt with to handle any other national issues. The U.S. Department of Sovereignty is one major thing that handles the whole country for real and meritoriously, honorably, righteously, and worthily. With so many of the legitimate and worthy people looking for their side and a side to support and that supports them, this U.S. Department of Sovereignty side is the side and connects with the full side.

Present Times Before Issue Areas Have Been Worked Out

The present time is still before anything involved has been adequately worked out. For working out anything involved, relevant communication has to be made to me, and I have to respond back accordingly. Relevant communication means that the communication has to address issues involved, be intended to work out these issues, involve me, be made to me, and be open to my response and follow-up. My communication has been made, so information was provided, and possibilities were enabled. Open communication lines are maintained and watched so that relevant communication can be made and would be noticed if or when it is there.

The U.S. Department of Education carelessly denied my student loans defense. My student loans defense was meritoriously and righteously present with the U.S. Department of Education through three years. My director level materials remained communicated to the White House through the same three years and included many mentions of the student loans situation. The current U.S. Department of Education is a part of the Trump administration, and my student loans defense was rhetorically denied after three years, against my interests and rights, and certainly not dealing with me. I cannot just be not dealt with.

What is going on with Trump and the Trump administration? How could a part of the Trump administration, the U.S. Department of Education, be in total contrast to anything and everything meritorious involved? Is this Trump doing that, or is this some overly benefited people, who are somehow among the Trump administration, corrupting Trump and the Trump administration? How could and why would Trump and the Trump administration go against 40 million people who have student loans, especially when in a U.S. Presidential election year? A list of seriously negative national incidents happened during the past few years and should not have happened as they did or even at all. These negative national occurrences suspiciously continued and including into and through an election year, 2020. What is going on at the White House and with the Trump administration?

There are achievements to accomplish in these times. Some of these achievements are important and effectual to the situation or to other progressions needed. My own invoice for paying my director pay to me has built up to approximately $270,000, and when I am paid that money, as I demand, my student loans can be taken care of in any one of a number of ways. Precedent would be set for other people with student loans so that everyone is not victimized with the student loans. Working with student loans, and endeavoring to improve the stagnated national problem of student loans, would be alleviated to various degrees, and other possibilities would be active, too.

Financial Management of Directorship

My invoice built up in the present era since September 2018 (see Appendix A). The U.S. Department of Sovereignty invoice was just started at the beginning of this year of 2020 and has gone through January to this month of July 2020 (see Appendix E). The year amount of start-up funding sought for the department was $3 billion. The invoice amount as of July totals, $1,750,000,000.00, and of course, much can be done with that money when it is paid to the Department of Sovereignty. The department, along with its two agencies, could be funded for needs, and many jobs for people of the United States would be enabled. The funding for the department next year could go to $5 billion or maybe even $10 billion or more because of such tremendous success and potential.

With my invoice built up to $270,000, and including especially when my student loans of more than $250,000 are eliminated, just think what my financial credit would be following (see Student Loan Notices, Appendices B-D). When the U.S. Department of Sovereignty is paid and securely set at being paid ongoing, just think about what good financial credit the U.S.

Department of Sovereignty will have also. Right now, the Sovereignty Department has no debt.

The Department of Sovereignty does not owe anything to anyone. The present situation is only that the U.S. Department of Sovereignty is owed $1,750,000,000.00.

Of course, debt is not totally bad and does not have to be at a rate of no debt at all. The debt just has to be maintained as being reasonable and able to be reasonably handled. There can be some debt. For example, a reasonable amount of debt could be considered as being up to 30% of assets or income. The Sovereignty Department will likely have an opening of comfortably taking on up to 30% debt to maintain or to pay down to zero in optimal times, which would enable renewing the debt to 30% gracefully. The U.S. Department of Sovereignty always endeavors to work with debt and wealth successfully and for maintaining the country's and the people's prosperity and sovereignty.

Real Individual Who is a United States Director

In these current times before I have been dealt with, I have to reiterate that I myself as an individual have to be regarded. I cannot just be not dealt with when I make an emphasis concerning something involved that is important and relevant. I am the one who has been working and working meritoriously through the past years before being dealt with, rewarded, or honored. I am the one who has the earnings, merits, worthiness, and potential to be dealt with for enabling progress. Concerning this country through the past years, I am the one with the substance and consistency and who is already well-proven, and I am the one with righteousness, wisdom, peace, and prosperity involved with me.

I just have not been dealt with yet. I am the one who is supposed to be dealt with, though, and who is requiring to be dealt with concerning and effectual to many important areas of this country and humanity and civilization. Because of more than a quarter-century being involved with me before I have been dealt with, I cannot, and the matters involved cannot, just be easily or instantly dealt with, and some time and work will be needed. I have worked and worked for a long time, so there is no justification or reason why anyone else should just do things or be exalted without the work being done or the honest and righteous effort being made. I think that everyone should align with and adhere to my materials and stand or wait in back of me before advancing because that way, there could be appropriate, fair, and true advancement accordingly of everyone and this country, too.

Present Situation, Student Loans, and Director Documentation

The present situation is that I am watching and waiting for some relevant communication to come back to me. The present time is following the U.S. Department of Education baseless rejection letter, which denied my three-year defense and all facts, evidence, and merits, and made me have to send a reconsideration request, as I did (see Appendix F). If and when relevant communication is presented to me, I will work with it accordingly and in an efficient amount of time. I am likely to release some additional information in the direction of the student loans legal proceedings, as a part of further fulfilling my responsibilities concerning the student loans and my United States executive director work. I am mainly saying that I previously favored the settlement, but now there needs to be a ruling to nullify the U.S. Department of Education rhetorically denying student loan defenses and a ruling to not have any lessening, negating, or excluding of my work done through the past years. I also explained why I am supposed to receive a Student Loans Relinquishment Honor and my doctorate, and I included three of my U.S. Executive Director reports as supporting documentation and evidence, not to be denied.

Conclusion

The time is here now for the Trump administration to accept responsibility and be accountable, so I request, and DEMAND, that the issues involved here be addressed respectfully and that relevant communication be made to me in this month of July 2020.

Thank you,

U.S. Department of Education June 16th, 2020 Class Action Settlement Notice

Click here to view this email as a web page.

June 16, 2020

Borrower Defense Application #: 01400527

Dear Joseph Mallon:

Your rights may be affected, please read carefully.

You filed an application asking the U.S. Department of Education to cancel some or all of your federal student loan debt because the school you (or your child) attended did something wrong. This is known as a borrower defense application.

As a borrower defense applicant, you may have been previously informed that you may be part of a class action lawsuit in a case called Sweet v. DeVos, which challenges the Department of Education's delay in issuing final decisions on borrower defense applications, including yours.

We now write to inform you that there is a proposed settlement of the lawsuit. The settlement will not become final until it is approved by the court as fair, adequate, and reasonable. This Notice describes how your legal rights may be affected by this settlement.

What is the case about?

A lawsuit was filed in a federal court in California by seven borrower defense applicants who represent, with certain exceptions, all borrowers with pending borrower defense applications as of April 7, 2020. The lawsuit challenges the fact that the Department of Education did not issue a final decision on any borrower defense applications from any school between June 2018 and December 2019. The case is Sweet v. DeVos, No. 19-cv-3674 (N.D. Cal.).

The lawsuit is ONLY about the fact that final decisions were not issued during that period of time, NOT whether those applications should result in loan cancellation or not. Now, both parties are proposing to settle this lawsuit. This proposed settlement is a compromise of disputed claims, and Defendants continue to deny that they have acted unlawfully.

What are the terms of the proposed settlement?

In the proposed settlement, the Department of Education agrees to resolve pending borrower defense applications of people who have borrower defense applications pending as of April 7, 2020 on the following terms:

- The Department of Education will approve or deny all Sweet Class members' pending borrower defense applications within 18 months of when the settlement agreement is approved by the Court. The Department will notify you of whether your claim was approved, whether you will receive any loan cancellation, and if so, how much loan cancellation you will receive.
- If your application is approved and you are entitled to any loan discharge, the Department of Education will complete the process of cancelling some or all of your outstanding loan debt within 21 months of the date on which the settlement agreement is approved by the Court.
- The Department of Education will provide your lawyers with information about its progress making borrower defense decisions every three months, including how many decisions the Department has made, how many borrowers have received a loan discharge, and any new borrower defense findings the Department has made.
- The Department of Education confirms, consistent with governing law and existing policies, that if you are in default, it will not take action to collect your debt, such as by garnishing your wages (that is, taking part of your paycheck) or taking portions of your tax refund, while your application is pending.

What happens next?

The Court will need to approve the proposed settlement before it becomes final. The Court will hold a public hearing, called a fairness hearing, to decide if the proposed settlement is fair. The hearing will be held on Oct. 1, 2020 beginning at 8 a.m. Pacific Time at the following address:

United States District Court
Northern District of California

450 Golden Gate Avenue, Courtroom 12, 19th Floor
San Francisco, California 94102

What should I do in response to this Notice?

IF YOU AGREE with the proposed settlement, you do not have to do anything. You have the right to attend the fairness hearing, at the time and place above, but you are not required to do so.

IF YOU DISAGREE WITH OR HAVE COMMENTS on the proposed settlement, you can write to the Court or ask to speak at the hearing. You must do this by writing to the Clerk of the Court, at the following mailing address:

Clerk of the Court
United States District Court
Northern District of California
450 Golden Gate Avenue
San Francisco, California 94102

Your written comments or request to speak at the fairness hearing must be postmarked by Aug. 20, 2020. The Clerk will provide copies of the written comments to the lawyers who brought the lawsuit.

Where can I get more information?

There is more information about the Sweet v. DeVos lawsuit on Class Counsel's website at <https://predatorystudentlending.org/sweet-v-devos-class-members/> and on the Department of Education's website at StudentAid.gov/Sweet. Check this site periodically for updated information about the lawsuit.

A copy of the proposed settlement is available online at <https://predatorystudentlending.org/cases/sweet-v-devos/>.

Borrower Defense Application #: 01400527

Dear Joseph Mallon:

The U.S. Department of Education (ED) has completed its review of your application under the applicable Borrower Defense to Repayment regulations for discharge of your William D. Ford Federal Direct Loans (Direct Loans) made in connection with your or your child's enrollment at University of Phoenix. "You" as used here should be read to include your child if you are a Direct PLUS Loan borrower who requested a discharge for loans taken out to pay for a child's enrollment at University of Phoenix. ED has determined that your application is ineligible for relief based on review of the facts of your claim and the regulatory criteria for relief; this decision means that your Direct Loans will not be discharged. ED explains the reasons below.

Applicable Law

For Direct Loans first disbursed prior to July 1, 2017, a borrower may be eligible for a discharge (forgiveness) of part or all of one or more Direct Loans if the borrower's school engaged in acts or omissions that would give rise to a cause of action against the school under applicable state law. See § 455(h) of the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended, 20 U.S.C. § 1087e(h), and 34 C.F.R. § 685.206(c) and 685.222 (the Borrower Defense regulations). ED recognizes a borrower's defense to repayment of a Direct Loan only if the cause of action directly relates to the Direct Loan or to the school's provision of educational services for which the Direct Loan was provided. 34 C.F.R. §§685.206(c)(1), 685.222(a)(5); U.S. Department of Education, Notice of Interpretation, 60 Fed. Reg. 37,769 (Jul. 21, 1995).

Why was my application determined to be ineligible?

ED reviewed your borrower defense claims based on any evidence submitted by you in support of your application, your loan data from National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS®), and evidence provided by other borrowers.

Allegation 1: Transferring Credits

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Transferring Credits. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Insufficient evidence.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Allegation 2: Career Services

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Career Services. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Insufficient evidence.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Allegation 3: Admissions and Urgency to Enroll

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Admissions and Urgency to Enroll. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Failure to state a legal claim.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Allegation 4: Educational Services

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Educational Services. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Failure to state a legal claim.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Allegation 5: Employment Prospects

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Employment Prospects . This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Insufficient evidence.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Allegation 6: Program Cost and Nature of Loans

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Program Cost and Nature of Loans. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Failure to state a legal claim.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Allegation 7: Other

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Other. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Failure to state a legal claim.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

What evidence was considered in determining my application's ineligibility?

We reviewed evidence provided by you and other borrowers who attended your school. Additionally, we considered evidence gathered from the following sources:

Federal Trade Commission (FTC)
IA Attorney General's Office
Evidence obtained by the Department in conjunction with its regular oversight activities

Publicly available records relating to US ex rel. Green v. Univ. of Phoenix, No. 14-001654 (N.D. Oh. Apr. 29, 2019)

Materials compiled by non-profit group, Veterans Education Success (VES)

Publicly available securities filings made by University of Phoenix's parent company, Apollo Education Group

What if I do not agree with this decision?

If you disagree with this decision, you may ask ED to reconsider your application. To submit a request for reconsideration, please send an email with the subject line "Request for Reconsideration [ref:_00Dt0Gyiq._500t0DPdX1:ref]" to BorrowerDefense@ed.gov or mail your request to U.S. Department of Education, P.O. Box 1854, Monticello, KY 42633. In your Request for Reconsideration, please provide the following information:

1. Which allegation(s) you believe that ED incorrectly decided;

2. Why you believe that ED incorrectly decided your borrower defense to repayment application; and
3. Identify and provide any evidence that demonstrates why ED should approve your borrower defense to repayment claim under the applicable law set forth above.

ED will not accept any Request for Reconsideration that includes new allegations. If you wish to assert allegations that were not included in your application, please see the following section. Additionally, your loans will not be placed into forbearance unless your request for reconsideration is accepted and your case is reopened. Failure to begin or resume repayment will result in collection activity, including administrative wage garnishment, offset of state and federal payments you may be owed, and litigation. For more information about the reconsideration process, please contact our borrower defense hotline at 1-855-279-6207 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Eastern time (ET) on Monday through Friday.

Can I apply for borrower defense if I have additional claims?

If you wish to file a new application regarding acts or omissions by the school other than those described in borrower defense application [Case Number], please submit an application at StudentAid.gov/borrower-defense. In the new application, you should explain in the relevant section(s) the basis for any new borrower defense claim(s) and submit all supporting evidence.

What should I do now?

Because your borrower defense to repayment application was found to be ineligible, you are responsible for repayment of your loans. ED will notify your servicer(s) of the decision on your borrower defense to repayment application within the next 15 calendar days, and your servicer will contact you within the next 30 to 60 calendar days to inform you of your loan balance. Further, if any loan balance remains, the loans will return to their status prior to the submission of your application. If your loans were in forbearance as a result of your borrower defense to repayment application, the servicer will remove those loans from forbearance. See COVID-19 Note below.

If your loans are in default and are currently in stopped collections, your loans will be removed from stopped collections. Failure to begin or resume repayment could result in collection activity such as administrative wage garnishment, offset of state and federal payments that you may be owed, and litigation. See COVID-19 Note below.

While normally interest would not be waived for unsuccessful borrower defense applications, given the extended period of time it took ED to complete the review of this application, the Secretary is waiving any interest that accrued on your Direct Loans from the date of the filing of your borrower defense application to the date of this notification. Your servicer will provide additional information in the coming months regarding the specific amount of interest adjusted. See COVID-19 Note below.

COVID-19 Note: On March 27, 2020, the president signed the CARES Act, which, among other things, provides broad relief in response to the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) for federal student loan borrowers whose loans are owned by ED. For the period March 13, 2020, through September 30, 2020, the interest rate on the loans will be 0% and no payments will be required. During this same period for defaulted borrowers, all proactive collection activities, wage garnishments, and Treasury offsets will be stopped. Your federal loan servicer will answer any questions you have about your specific situation. In addition, Federal Student Aid's COVID-19 information page for students, borrowers, and parents is located at StudentAid.gov/coronavirus. Please visit the page regularly for updates.

What if I have another pending borrower defense application?

If you have additional pending borrower defense to repayment applications, this information applies to you:

- If your loans associated with an additional borrower defense to repayment application that is still pending are in forbearance or another status that does not require you to make payments, your loans will remain in forbearance or that other status. Similarly, if your loans associated with that borrower defense application are in default and you are currently in stopped collections, those loans will remain in stopped collections.
- If you are unsure if you have additional pending applications, or if you would like to check on the status of your loans associated with an additional application, contact our borrower defense hotline at 1-855-279-6207 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. ET on Monday through Friday.

ED offers a variety of loan repayment options, including the standard 10-year repayment plan, as well as extended repayment, graduated repayment, and income-driven repayment plans. For more information about student loan repayment options, visit StudentAid.gov/plans. If you have questions about the status of your loans or questions about repayment options, please contact your servicer(s). If you do not know the name of your federal loan servicer, you may go to StudentAid.gov to find your servicer and view your federal loan information.

Reg. 37,769 (Jul. 21, 1995).

Reconsideration, please provide the following information:

4. Which allegation(s) you believe that ED incorrectly decided;

Response - The U.S. Department of Education incorrectly decided all the allegations. Each allegation was incorrectly decided. Each allegation needs to be reconsidered and decided on again in regard of the original assertion of the allegation.

Responses to the U.S. Department of Education AssertionsAllegation 1: Transferring Credits

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Transferring Credits. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Insufficient evidence.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Response - The paraphrasing of the alleged statement was that "University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Transferring Credits." The specific assertion was that the "University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct" concerning credits and accrediting relating to anywhere. The allegation stands for the following reason(s): Preponderance of evidence.

Your denial of the claim for relief on this basis is, therefore, rejected.

Reconsideration of the original allegation is requested.

Allegation 2: Career Services

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Career Services. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Insufficient evidence.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Response - The paraphrasing of the alleged statement was that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Career Services. The specific assertion was that the "University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct" that negatively affected professional areas such as a career. The allegation stands for the following reason(s): Preponderance of evidence.

Your denial of the claim for relief on this basis is, therefore, rejected.

Reconsideration of the original allegation is requested.

Allegation 3: Admissions and Urgency to Enroll

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Admissions and Urgency to Enroll. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Failure to state a legal claim.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Response - The paraphrasing of the alleged statement was that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to "Admissions and Urgency to Enroll." The specific assertion was that that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to "Admissions and Urgency to Enroll" by causing excessive enrollment over a prolonged amount of time. In addition, other uncalled for impediments were caused further prolonging the time and always with an urgency factor. The University of Phoenix violated its contractual agreement by such misconduct and was in violation of its own faculty professional code of conduct, in addition to violating ethics and laws. The allegation stands for the following reason(s): Accomplishing to state a legal claim.

Your denial of the claim for relief on this basis is, therefore, rejected.

Reconsideration of the original allegation is requested.

Allegation 4: Educational Services

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Educational Services. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Failure to state a legal claim.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Response - The paraphrasing of the alleged statement was that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to "Educational Services." The specific assertion was that that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to "Educational Services" by causing years of excessive courses and time to be involved needlessly instead of enabling graduation from a doctoral program and honorable receipt of the already earned doctorate. The allegation stands for the following reason(s): Accomplishing to state a legal claim.

Your denial of the claim for relief on this basis is, therefore, rejected.

Reconsideration of the original allegation is requested.

Allegation 5: Employment Prospects

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Employment Prospects. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Insufficient evidence.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Response - The paraphrasing of the alleged statement was that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to "Employment Prospects." The specific assertion was that that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to "Employment Prospects" by never helping in this area and by not completing its work that the university was supposed to do to enable successful completion of a doctoral program. The allegation stands for the following reason(s): Preponderance of evidence.

Your denial of the claim for relief on this basis is, therefore, rejected.

Reconsideration of the original allegation is requested.

Allegation 6: Program Cost and Nature of Loans

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Program Cost and Nature of Loans. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Failure to state a legal claim.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Response - The paraphrasing of the alleged statement was that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to "Program Cost and Nature of Loans." The specific assertion was that that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to “Program Cost and Nature of Loans” by not enabling, within a reasonable amount of time, the successful completion of a successfully completed doctoral program. The allegation stands for the following reason(s): Accomplishing to state a legal claim.

Your denial of the claim for relief on this basis is, therefore, rejected.

Reconsideration of the original allegation is requested.

Allegation 7: Other

You allege that University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to Other. This allegation fails for the following reason(s): Failure to state a legal claim.

Your claim for relief on this basis therefore is denied.

Response - The paraphrasing of the alleged statement was that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to “Other.” The specific assertion was that that the University of Phoenix engaged in misconduct related to “Other” areas described in various places and unacceptable to have happened at all and so carelessly. For example, the university consistently discredited myself, my work, the high passing grade levels achieved in courses, the courses themselves, the faculty, the doctoral level materials and articles, and the entire doctoral program by negating everything on numerous occasions. The university negated all the merits, the progressions, the factual and relevant information provided, the reaching and developing on a doctoral level, and the successful completion of the already successfully completed doctoral program. The allegation stands for the following reason(s): Accomplishing to state a legal claim.

Your denial of the claim for relief on this basis is, therefore, rejected.

Reconsideration of the original allegation is requested.

I additionally include this quote showing that I presented evidence and so did others who attended the particular school I referred to in my student loans defense materials. “We reviewed evidence provided by you and other borrowers who attended your school.”

I also reviewed the following sources of information, which appeared to be more along the lines of my emphasis rather than the opposite. In addition, evidence was presented in those sources, too, and not just no evidence. “Additionally, we considered evidence gathered from the following sources.”

More from U.S. Department of Education –

More from me –

Reconsideration of the original allegations is requested.

5. Why you believe that ED incorrectly decided your borrower defense to repayment application;

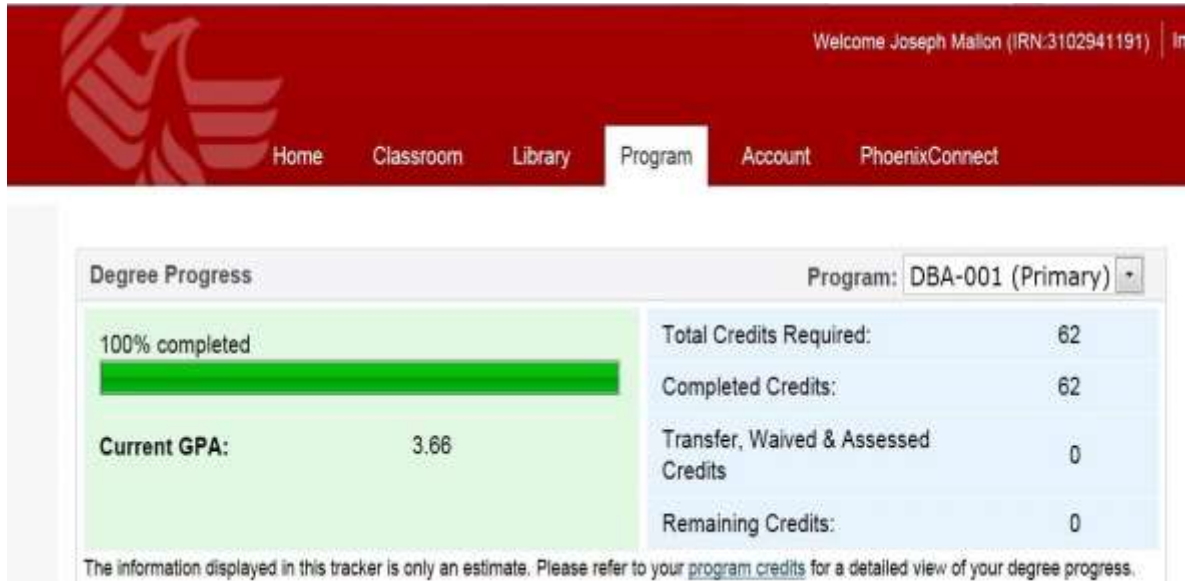

Response - The U.S. Department of Education appeared to have hastily proceeded with an ulterior motive or a different intent than from the original intent of providing a student loans defense pursuant to applicable law concerning American universities and student loans. The directive appears to have changed to one of getting rid of the long-enduring student loan defense applications. There was no longer the intent to uphold or enforce the applying of Federal laws involved, but instead, the intent was to eliminate as many student loan defense applications as possible as quickly as possible.

6. Identify and provide any evidence that demonstrates why ED should approve your borrower defense to repayment claim under the applicable law set forth above.

Response - I have an excessive amount of evidence for why the U.S. Department of Education should approve my student loans borrower defense. All the evidence is too much to include here, but I will include enough evidence.

One piece of evidence is that I completed the doctoral program in 2012, and I was ready to finish up everything and receive my doctorate. The following is a copy of my doctoral program completion status report from the university.

Evidence 1

Another piece of evidence is my dissertation being in what was called the Quality Review Final (QRF) area. This QRF area was later changed to a final edit area, but not to be confused because my dissertation was in that very final area and not any area short of that. The first biggest aspect was that I submitted my dissertation into the QRF in March 2012, and I did not receive any word back until in September 2012 when, a review report was supposed to be made back within a reasonable amount of time, such as 30 days. The report I received back in September totally debauched my dissertation, which previously received many A grades and reached a passable point by back in March 2012, let alone 6 months later and with such a discrediting report. I then worked diligently further on my dissertation through the following months, but instead of finishing by the end of 2012, as I actually did and was ready to do, the university had caused that not to happen instead.

I next was caused to go through the following two years working extensively on my dissertation. In the last months of 2014, I again submitted my dissertation multiple times into the QRF. Instead of regarding that two additional years have gone by and the intent should be to get the work done—get the program done, my dissertation was still not finished on the university end and even though the dissertation committee members were also saying to pass the dissertation and get it done. This continued into January 2015. The following report shows this piece of evidence.

Lastly, I will include one more piece of evidence. I am only including a part of it because I am not trying to overdo anything or add in anything additional. I am next including a primary part of a Formal Complaint I made. This complaint has more to it and goes on and on further beyond this primary part included, but this primary part of my Formal Complaint is relevant here as additional evidence of my emphasis that my Student Loans Borrower Defense should be upheld and approved.

Also, please do keep considered that this formal complaint was not written in the present times and was written in 2013 to 2015 (October 2013 to November 2015).

Evidence 3

Formal Complaint Concerning the University of Phoenix

I hereby do formally complain about improprieties on the part of the University of Phoenix as a result of its directing members. (The improprieties are left open-ended here to be labeled to enforceable charges applicable. The same applies to any monetary amounts). I expect my doctorate to be turned over to me based on my merits and for me to be referred to in an honoring way, such as with an honorable title formally practiced. Monetary penalties against the University of Phoenix are applicable and can be addressed when the issues are seriously being worked through. The following complaint is the University of Phoenix result of the past years and not only of the current times, although inclusive of the current times to in the end of 2015.

Background of Complaint

The university has done nothing but waste time since I first submitted my dissertation for final review and completed 97% of the doctoral program. The past two years (currently as of 11-07-2015, more than three years) have to be accounted for in this direction. The issues involved have to be worked out. My doctorate has to be turned over to me.

This excessive time passage caused me needless aggravation and opportunity costs. I had to be concerned about finishing the doctoral program when truthfully, I already finished. Some people at least seemingly got ahead of me although I was really ahead of them. Awkward, insulting, and discouraging situations were caused or further caused. The excessive time passage devalued the attributes of the graduate program and added additional concerns about the future.

In addition, I finished the full load of the doctoral program courses with A grades and an ending A grade level Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.66 (see Exhibit E – here Evidence 1). Finishing with A grades and an ending A grade level GPA should have been enough to pass the program and finish it on an A grade level. There should not have been anything else.

First Dissertation Committee

I do not feel this dissertation situation was fair to myself, as I was in the role of a student, and I do not feel the situation was fair for the instructors, either. First of all, by not passing my A quality dissertation in the first place in the final review, the work and grading of the instructors was discredited and made to seem as though they did not do any constructive work or accurate grading in the courses through the years. I suspect that the original dissertation committee members were treated by the university directing management like they did not do their work or the right work. They were put at issue as a long time was wasted during the final review, and this occurrence led to more significant time going by. This situation led to the original dissertation committee members dropping out of working in their roles with my dissertation to the completion of the almost completed doctoral program.

Second Dissertation Committee and IRB Re-approval

I had to set new dissertation committee members. After the new dissertation committee members started, everything was going forward, but a substantial amount of university procedural work had to be done because of the excessive time passage of more than a year being involved. More time went by to get everything done, and all was good and successful on the part of the new dissertation committee members and my dissertation. The procedures of my dissertation needing an IRB re-approval and the IRB resubmittal method were the next time-wasting impediments. My dissertation was done, all IRB forms were completed, and the submittal for the IRB re-approval was made.

Next, everything got stuck here in the IRB re-approval submittal process. My dissertation did not even get submitted yet, or at least that was the emphasis, and three additional months, which was the entire 2013 summer, went by. The IRB submittal for re-approval was still being worked on in October 2013. The additional dissertation committee member aspect here was the reasonable expectation that the actual work on the dissertation completion would be done in the summer. I could not and would not expect anything additional on the part of the dissertation committee members because since they started before the 2013 summer through to the then present time of in October 2013, they were not paid anything. They were not paid any money because in all that time, no course actually started or could be because everything involved, and that was causing delays, had to do with the university's procedures.

Summary

The work to finish the last 3% of the doctoral program still had to be done as of in October 2013. I had no intent to ask for or expect anything additional on the part of the dissertation committee members who had not been paid anything at all yet. This whole doctoral program already should have been completed. I felt the situation was not fair to anyone involved, and I was limited with what I could do. I was stuck with still needing to complete the last 3% of the doctoral program and with a situation that was difficult to impossible to explain about, especially conveniently. The university should realistically review this specific doctoral program situation and take some constructive actions.

The present time of the origination of this document is after a year-and-a-half additional time. My dissertation is still not through the final 3% of the doctoral program. The fault or deficiency is not on my part. I made my first submittal for my dissertation's final review in a timely manner back in March 2012. The present time is October 2013. While going on with the continuance, the end of the program still remains a substantial amount of time away. The time is in no way needed or caused by me and is purely a result of the university procedures.

Continuance of Same Occurrences

After October 2013, I did more work for my dissertation to be re-submitted into the IRB for re-approval with exempt status. I continued checking in with the dissertation committee members through the entire time of October 2013 through to into January 2014. My dissertation ended up being submitted to the IRB for re-approval a few times, but no response came back. The situation appeared as though the dissertation did not get through, but after more than one resubmittal, the situation seemed more that the dissertation delay resulted after the dissertation submittal for the IRB re-approval. I continuously kept up with everything involved and exhausted all possibilities as the time remained going by in these terms to into the middle of February 2014.

The IRB's non-performance caused a next problem in the form of the doctoral program's time limitation to be exceeded. The IRB pushed the dissertation re-approval process right passed the ending time limits of the entire doctoral program. Of course, how could anything additional be done when the IRB took up all the time? I did not take up all that time; the IRB and the university took up all that time. I next had to submit documents to appeal to extend the doctoral program, but that made me feel bad and seemed like something I should not have had to do. (The IRB repeated this exact same occurrence at the end of eight years of this doctoral program).

Two Years of Doctoral Program Backend

As of in March 2014, two years passed by since my dissertation's final review submittal to finish the doctoral program after completing the doctoral program's content courses and dissertation courses with A grades and ending the doctoral program with an A grade level 3.66 GPA. All on my part remained successful. My dissertation held up as absolutely excellent and on high A grade levels.

I gave the university full-faith chances through the entire two years and did everything I had responsibility for accomplishing. I further worked on my dissertation and continued achieving top quality A grade level work. I worked out and had set all finances involved with the university and the doctoral program. Out of everything done successfully on my part, not one course resulted in the two years of time the university caused to add onto the backend of the doctoral program. The IRB re-approval could not even get done, especially in a timely manner.

No pays or lucrative facilitations resulted from this situation the university caused. No learning or teaching happened in these directions during this two-year time period. The university served absolutely no constructive purpose by not passing my dissertation in the final review in the first place and causing only unsubstantiated negative directions on the doctoral program's backend for two years.

The IRB re-approval was one of the easiest kinds of IRB approvals possible. This kind of IRB approval is the most convenient there can be. My dissertation already received the IRB approval previously and with exempt status granted. Nothing changed with the dissertation since its original approval. No people or groups of people, especially any protected groups of people, had involvement as participants. No consent was needed. No people's or groups of people's rights were at issue. All materials used were research materials. This IRB re-approval should have been one of the easiest and quickest kinds but, instead, took more than six months and pushed the time right out of the entire dissertation program time limitation.

After the previously described situation, the IRB approval did result. The IRB granted exempt status. I continued successfully with the doctoral program. My dissertation remained high quality and going forward. The main point is that the university has to look at its processes because the excessive time delays should not have happened in the first place, and all that should have happened was the successful continuance.

IRB Itself Not an Issue

The IRB was not the real problem and turned out to not be the real problem. The QRF caused the real delay, which caused the IRB re-approval to be necessary after more than a year passed by. (Later though, the situation appeared that the same person may have been effectually involved with and caused needless delays in the IRB and QRF). The IRB ended up going through approved and with me continuing with Exempt status for my dissertation work. The IRB process could and should be looked at to make it more efficient and smoother, but the QRF still presently remains the biggest problem and the primary cause of other problems. The QRF caused the doctoral program backend to continue excessively from March 2012 to September 2012 and then into the next year of 2013, which put the IRB at issue, and the QRF kept this same situation continuing outrageously excessively through 2013, 2014, and into 2015—three years later.

More than Two (and-a-half) Years of Doctoral Program Backend

Presently, the doctoral program time situation is in December 2014 and after another course, extensive work on the dissertation, two more baseless QRF rejections, more needless delay, and much undeserved aggravation. I remained successful, and so did my dissertation, but the QRF area has still not treated my dissertation right or respectfully. I had to take another course just to resubmit my dissertation, and I did that, resubmitted a quality dissertation, and achieved an A grade in the course. Instead of my dissertation receiving approval in the QRF, I received two rejections despite extensive revisions made. Because the revisions and merits were ignored and a derogatory emphasis was made with no recognizable good intent or constructive purpose, furthering this complaint justified as necessary and appropriate action to take.

Before the DOC-734A course started, I worked diligently on my dissertation and prepared it for the QRF resubmittal. The first thing in the morning on the first day of the course, I resubmitted my dissertation to the QRF. I went through the course, did well and with good intent, and I achieved an A final grade for the course. Instead of enough being enough with my dissertation in the QRF, I received a rejection notice, which expressed numerous revisions were needed.

The standard procedure for working with reviewer comments is to make revisions or present rebuttals. I made some rebuttals to the reviewers' comments that did not justify revision, and I made revisions in consideration of the reviewers' comments that were straightforward and had constructive utility. Mainly, I made rebuttals to reviewer comments that were negatively slanted in a broadly encompassing way, and I further explained about anything that was obviously misunderstood or not known. I made extensive revisions, acquired dissertation committee approval, and resubmitted my dissertation to the QRF. I again received a rejection but one that was merely a few sentences, was negatively slanted in a broadly inclusive way, repeated the previous comments that were already addressed, and ignored all the revisions already made.

The rejection had no constructive purpose. The revisions already made were ignored and did not receive any specific attention or consideration. The revisions were treated as though they were not there. The review was conducted like nothing additional was done on my dissertation following the previous rejection and its reviewer comments. A negative, skewing emphasis was made by stating that the writing was incoherent, but if that poor writing capability was true, my dissertation would not have gone successfully through the entire doctoral program and with me receiving many A grades.

Very Important

A generalized negative expression should not be made and acted upon concerning a dissertation that is already established as successful, is in its ending times of the doctoral program, and only needs to be finished up. A dissertation in the QRF should not be subject to being redone. Anything of the necessities for a dissertation should have been covered during the program itself. All the past student's and instructors' work should not have to be redone in the QRF and should not be subject to any such thing. The QRF is not supposed to be a course or a doctoral program in itself, and furthermore, the QRF is not supposed to be used to merely cause extra courses to be necessary on the backend of an already otherwise successfully completed doctoral program.

I should have received my dissertation back approved in the QRF on this round. The QRF review was the third QRF review. More than enough was already done. More even further should not be necessary or be caused to seem necessary. At the worst, I should have received my dissertation back from the QRF approved with changes. The changes were only some minor typos that I already found and corrected during another full proofreading of my dissertation, and these typos were only there because I previously did so much additional work on my dissertation following the previous set of reviewers' comments.

Working unconstructively on my dissertation is not appropriate. Taking additional courses for no real or constructive purpose is not right to do. Working more on areas, such as methodology already covered in the core doctoral program, and with A grades received, makes no sense. Working on basic components of writing does not apply when the textual expressions would not have reached the doctoral program, achieved numerous A grades, and amounted to an A grade level GPA, if the writing was truly the negative assertions such as lacking clarity, incoherent, or grammatically incorrect. Nothing additional should be done to cater to a further unprogressive continuance of a 97% completed doctoral program only needing to be finished up in its very ending times.

An additional point to note is that a dissertation does not have to be everything in every way to pass a final quality review (QRF). Only a passing grade or score should be needed. My dissertation was A quality level, achieved many A grades, and contributed to earning me an ending A level GPA in the doctoral program. An A grade level should be enough to pass. The reviewers in the QRF made an A grade level seem like it was below a passing level, and by acting upon that downgrade, thus caused excessive and uncalled for delays along with other problems and difficulties in the ending times of the doctoral program.

The QRF methods are inappropriate for modern or current dean's office functions and standards concerning dissertations. The QRF reviewers implement a power structure of the university's dean without being the university's dean and while being without identity and unaccountable for inaccuracies and wrongful results. The QRF reviewers use loaded words that have negative connotations and do not correctly connect with or treat the subject matter. The QRF reviewers are pushing unreasonable expectations on everyone. The QRF is administering abusive practices and continues to function irresponsibly and unconstructively, but should cease from such continuance and should commence at operationalizing more mutual and reputable policies.

The QRF reviewers caused this damaged situation with the university. The QRF reviewers caused 2½ years additional to be gone through beyond the appropriate times for finishing the doctoral program. The university is vicariously liable for the QRF reviewers. The QRF reviewers, along with the university vicariously, put in jeopardy the entire doctoral program since its primary completion in March 2012 with an ending 3.66 A level GPA. The QRF reviewers along with the university kept in jeopardy through more than 2½ years the doctoral program and tens of thousands of dollars invested, including more than $200,000 in student loans (see Exhibit B – here comparatively can be seen in Appendix C previously presented). The reviewers, along with the university, should not have put the doctoral program and hundreds of thousands of dollars in jeopardy for 2½ years and with an ongoing situation of having no end in sight (and which continued up to this next reporting point of November 2015).

Reaching a Three-year Point in the QRF

The Quality Review Final (QRF) area of the University of Phoenix did nothing but cause further delay through the 2014 holiday season and into the next year of 2015. I resubmitted my dissertation four times in this time period, and the QRF reviewer(s) (the letter “s” in parentheses because only one reviewer may have represented them all) rejected my dissertation each time, regardless of anything involving my dissertation and including recent work done. (I found out later that only one reviewer kept on rejecting my dissertation and while the other three reviewers kept saying to approve my dissertation; see Exhibit C – here Evidence 3). There was no regard or honor to the work done, the work itself, or the work author, even though all the work on the part of the dissertation was A grade quality and the seasonal time was the holiday season (2014 holiday season). My dissertation should have been finished in the QRF before the end of 2014.

The QRF reviewer(s) rejected my dissertation before Christmas 2014 after I did extensive work on my dissertation. The main concern that stood out was that my work done on the dissertation was not regarded. I did more work very efficiently on my dissertation and resubmitted my dissertation just before Christmas. My dissertation continued in this way until after New Year's Day 2015. Right after the new year of 2015 started, the QRF reviewer(s) rejected my dissertation again without regarding the dissertation work done and used the Change Matrix as a rationalization.

I next did work on the Change Matrix. I again prepared my dissertation materials to be resubmitted. When I was resubmitting my dissertation, I noticed that the Change Matrix was not converting over well from an Excel sheet to a PDF document for the submittal. I made some additional modifications to the Change Matrix and put it on a Word sheet, which did convert over well to a PDF document. I then resubmitted my dissertation documents. After a little more than a week, the QRF reviewer(s) rejected my dissertation again and only said the same justifications and including about the Change Matrix. No matter what I did, the work done was not regarded, and the QRF reviewer(s) just continued repeated expressions along with a slippery slope kind of further overreaching QRF reviewer bounds of propriety.

The change matrix is a document that is supposed to list dissertation changes made. The changes follow reviewer comments. The change matrix is supposed to list reviewer comments, changes made, page numbers, and rebuttals. The QRF reviewers disallowed the rebuttals. Even with the rebuttals next removed, the change matrix was still not considered sufficient.

I had to point out all the facts involved here. I had to make serious statements about this situation. I had to communicate about these issues to parties relevant to the doctoral program's current continuance so far. I had to continue with the successful doctoral program damaged and limping at this point following the QRF reviewer(s) careless results.

The dissertation committee members were already on the verge of dropping out because of this doctoral program taking too long to finish up in its very ending times. The program was supposed to be finished up and not just be going on and on endlessly. This group of dissertation committee members was the second set. There should not have been further excessive delay caused by the QRF reviewer(s), and with the QRF reviewer(s) (using the color of the office and seemingly educating and even scolding the doctoral student and dissertation committee members, too.

The latest (at the time of the original writing of this document) QRF reviewer(s) rejection is at the time of the Super Bowl football game. The relevancy here includes a few aspects. The times should include an adequacy of positive reality, which includes good will, making good faith efforts, acting ethically, being respectful, and doing right things. The Super Bowl itself in this year of 2015 is in the University of Phoenix stadium in Glendale, Arizona (near Phoenix, Arizona, February 1, 2015). With so much present, the QRF reviewer(s) of the University of Phoenix should not be so much in contrast and should be more in a positive way, including in regard to how other people, such as myself, are treated.

I had to request the Dissertation Services division conduct an investigation (I necessarily made another request for an investigation at the end of year eight). This step was the appropriate next step to take. I should not have had to go through any of this negative reality when the situation should have been positive and with me treated well because of the good work I did. I mitigated as much and as best as I could. A next step at this point is corresponding to the university's Office of Dispute Management, which I should not have to do, do not want to do, and would only do if absolutely appropriate and necessary.

I only want to finish up this doctoral program. I was in the very ending times of the program since March 2012 (to the present in February 2015 – 02/01/2015 and following to in November 2015). I finished the core doctoral program with an A grade point average of 3.66, which consisted of numerous A grades and including for my work on my dissertation. The QRF itself has taken three years so far and not because of anything on my part. This QRF situation is an issue requiring to be addressed correctly and including respectfully and satisfactorily to me—the doctoral student—doctoral candidate who earned a status of a doctor—a leadership, expert, and authority role.

AUGUST 2020August 1, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

As you of the Trump administration are or should be aware of, I communicated to here through your entire administration time. Do you not think that it is about time to get the matters of these areas worked out successfully? You are supposed to do your jobs and work on your levels concerning these areas. You are supposed to do your parts in these directions because that is what your jobs and levels are for and is what is in the best interests of all involved with this country and yourselves of the Trump administration included. I communicated and did my part through the past years before you or anyone here of the Trump administration contributed or facilitated anything in these directions, so you doing some of what you are supposed to do is requiring and expected.

Other people of this country have been doing what they are supposed to do, but you people here of the U.S. Government have not been doing what you are supposed to do. You pushed everything in the media through the past years, and everyone was subjected to that, but you did not include any other people with issues requiring to be dealt with and who were worthy of recognition, support, and honor. You subjected everyone to a pandemic by not preventing it enough, and everyone went along with you and did what they were supposed to do, but you still did not do what you were supposed to do by connecting with and dealing with the American people and issues. People paid their taxes, which are society debts, but you did not pay your society debts or do your jobs that were paid for and expected with the taxes, among other things.

People with the student loan defenses waited for up to three years or longer to have the student loans issues addressed and the student loans worked out, but you of the Trump administration left them waiting through the time and then just denied everything. You of this administration left these people with nothing instead of the student loans being taken care of as was expected, especially after 6 months (180 days) passed by, let alone years. These student loan defenses were hastily denied, too, because of intending to just get rid of as many student loan defenses as possible as quickly as possible instead of actually working out the student loan defense cases. The most that could be done after that point was to make a request for reconsideration, but that was another thing that had to be done and had to be worked through. The student loans situation, issues, and ordeals were not done, and everything remained in jeopardy when, really, longer should not have had to be gone through without being contentedly settled.

As I have been saying, I myself went through the past three years with my student loan defense in, active, and worthy. At the same time, I had professional official material at the White House concerning my appropriate professional position of U.S. executive director with the United States government. I was not dealt with in the three years, nothing was worked out with me, and I received no benefits that I should have received and, otherwise, would have received. I maintained everything as best as possible, did my job(s), and balanced with the situation while remaining successful. I paid my taxes through the past years and a very significant amount of taxes last year for 2019, but I have not been getting what I have been paying for and what I expect from the United States Government.

As you know, I have to be dealt with, and including concerning my professional position with the United States government. My professional position with the United States government is a high-ranking position and one that has prestige and authority. I have to be treated consistently and securely as being on such levels, as I truthfully have been on through the past years before I received any such honorable treatment or benefits. You here of the Trump administration took the past three years to deal with these areas, and the United States government overall took more than a quarter-century to deal with these areas. This means that the people currently associated with the United States government cannot just quickly, abruptly, or hastily deal with these matters or not as they want to direct and within the bounds of a half-hour or 15 minutes.

Because I have to be dealt with concerning the United States government, in regard of my meritorious and honorable involvement with the United States, nothing can be left up to the people currently associated with the United States government. Nothing can be as they intend or want to direct, and everything and anything has to be presented to me for my approval. I have to be dealt with on my terms. People who will take seasons or years to deal with something and then turn around and not deal with everything involved, and leave everyone involved with nothing instead, cannot be trusted to have an ultimate say. Nothing can be just left up to these people, you people, or any such people, and the other people, such as myself, have to have a say, including one with this being the United States and its government.

Therefore, I have to be dealt with by and concerning the United States government. I have to be dealt with on my terms. Anything that is anything relevant has to be presented to me for my approval. People currently associated with the U.S. government have to do their jobs and without saying to or about everyone else. For the rest of this document, I will continue with the information, but also, I request and expect, that relevant communication be made to me in this month of August 2020.

Cannot be Left as Only One Doing Relevant Work

The situation of me being left as the only one doing the relevant work and knowing what is going on in these important national areas is unacceptable. You here of the Trump administration have to do your work, see to it that others do their relevant work, or enable me to ensure that more than enough people do relevant work and adequately know what is going on in these important national areas. One area is education in the United States. My student loans situation has to be settled, and I have to receive my doctorate from a qualified American university. Because of the student loans along with my official and professional U.S. executive director materials presented to the White House through the past years, the responsibility of my doctorate being issued to me is imposed on you here of the Trump administration at the White House.

You have to organize people to do their work on the issuing of my doctorate to me. My dissertation has to be formally and officially confirmed and published as a completed dissertation. My dissertation went through all the doctoral program inclusions and went beyond that, too. Going beyond the doctoral program bounds has to be adequately taken into consideration because, remember, I had to keep working after I earned my doctorate, and I also completed post-doctoral levels by July 2019. The post-doctoral levels can be confirmed at some time after my doctorate is issued to me.

You have to organize, or enable to be organized, a committee of four or five people to review my dissertation and to sign off on my dissertation meeting and exceeding all doctoral dissertation standards. These people have to have a doctorate level credential from a qualified American university. After these people—who are equivalent to a dissertation committee chair person and dissertation committee members—sign off on my dissertation, there has to be another person with the status of a school/university dean, who signs off on my dissertation. My dissertation then has to be published on all honorable doctoral levels, and my doctorate has to be issued to me.

Doctorate and Post-Doctorate Package

In addition, the appropriate situation may be to work on my dissertation and doctorate as a package of both the doctorate and post-doctoral designation. This package inclusion is appropriate because I earned my doctorate in 2012, and I then did more work following through the next years to in July 2019 when I completed my post-doctoral work. I have my dissertation from 2012, and that has to be worked with to reward my doctorate to me. I have my 2019 edition of my dissertation, which was working further with my original dissertation in every appropriate, relevant, honorable, successful, and advanced doctoral way, and with this 2019 edition of my dissertation honored, my post-doctorate can be justifiably issued to me.

Because of this doctoral work being far beyond what I wanted or intended to do, the situation is right and just for some people being obligated to do this appropriate and necessary academic/educational work. In addition, while I had to do the necessary advanced doctoral level work, I had professional U.S. executive director material with the United States government, including at the White House through the years of the Trump administration, before I was dealt with, rewarded, or honored. Thus, there is full justification to impose the Trump administration to be responsible and accountable for working out my dissertation being fully worked on appropriately and officially and for my doctorate and post-doctorate being issued to me. My dissertation and doctoral work have to be worked on in ways adequately respectful to me and with intent to complete the work and not prolong, contrast, or discredit the work. I have to be regarded as being the expert, teacher, authority, and doctor in my areas of expertise, and I have to be able to be on, be developing on, and be maintaining a good outlook on my advanced levels.

Precedent for 40 Million People with Student Loans

For many reasons well described and presented through the previous years, I have to be dealt with appropriately concerning my student loans. The ways I am dealt with concerning my student loans set precedent for the other 40 million people with student loans, including especially all those masses of people who have in student loan defenses. Good faith effort has to be made to set and maintain mutuality with each person who has a student loan. Nothing against a student loan holder can be done, and anything done has to be after obtaining an agreement with or consent from the student loan holder.

If a student loan holder says no to something or objects to something or some kind of action, then that issue has to be addressed and the action cannot be done. Nothing additional can be done until and unless the student loan holder agrees or consents. Negotiations or discussions would have to be worked out with the student loan holder to the point of agreement and subject to continued agreement and being pleased and mutual with the situation—business arrangement. Each account has to be set and kept being worked on—serviced—individually so that the masses of student loan holders are continuing as a whole with good business practices. Nothing against or unacceptable to a student loan holder is permissible, and merely communicating to the student loan service area has to be all a student loan holder has to do to resolve any issue or concern.

There can be no negative reporting to a credit bureau, no negative collections activities, no wage garnishments or tax refund blockages, and no negative legal proceedings for student loans. All student loan holders have to be placed and continued on unremovable administrative forbearance set for the next 50 years or longer. Interest added onto student loans can be only 3 to 10 percent on the original or principle student loan, and no continuing interest may be charged. For example, if a student loan of $20,000 is obtained, the interest, if set at 5% for instance, can be once—a one-time charge—of $1,000 (and in consideration accordingly with a 10 or 20-year payoff time span), and no additional interest may be added to the total ongoing student loan debt of $21,000 (and set accordingly for the payoff period). Each additional student loan is to be handled in the same way, which is with a one-time interest charge for the amount of money borrowed in the form of a student loan.

All past and future student loans can be reviewed and set in these ways. Some adjustments may need to be made to past student loans accumulated amounts and their continuances. Some student loan consolidations or consolidation loans may have been for a higher than fair amount so can and should also be further reviewed for adjusting. Some student loan holders of the past may have overpaid on their student loans in these ways, too, or may have had unfairly high student loan consolidations, so they can present their claims for being paid back or refunded overpayments. This is another way of implementing the student loans defense at being fair to all people who had, have, or will have student loans.

Another point to add in here is that the U.S. Department of Education was not the one originally accused of wrongdoing, and it was the schools and universities that were accused of wrongdoing. There is no intent to overwhelm the U.S. Department of Education and make it or people associated with it act frantically and then be involved with wrongdoing. The U.S. Department of Education has to stay neutral and remain with core policies of education, fairness, truth, justice, integrity, and the American way. The U.S. Department of Education has to continue to be around for doing and being able to do something about such a burdensome and unacceptable situation that excessive, much-complained about and long-tolerated, rampant, and society-wide educational establishment wrongdoing has caused. The U.S. Department of Education has to remain doing right things that people alone by themselves cannot do and should not do concerning the field of education and educational establishments throughout and of the United States.

With me, I am owed my doctorate, and my post-doctorate work has to be rewarded, too. Thus, if any people are owed educational/academic rewards and honors, they have rights to receive them from a qualified educational establishment with obligations to regard the issues and to do the appropriate work involved. If any person is supposed to be regarded and worked with concerning educational / academic work, the educational establishments have a duty to do their work and let the work involved be what it is and receive its fitting rewards and honors. There does not always have to be everything in the world concerning everything, but there often has to be and should be enough of what there is supposed to be and not less than enough, especially excessively. After many years, I have rights to see an adequacy of propriety concerning this concept, and precedent is established for educational/academic establishments to treat the masses of present, past, and future student loan holders right in these ways.

Guidelines of this Section - Precedent

Paragraph 1

1. Good faith effort has to be made to set and maintain mutuality with each person who has a student loan.
2. Nothing against a student loan holder can be done, and anything done has to be after obtaining an agreement with or consent from the student loan holder.

Paragraph 2

1. If a student loan holder says no to something or objects to something or some kind of action, then that issue has to be addressed and the action cannot be done.
 - a. Nothing additional can be done until and unless the student loan holder agrees or consents.
 - b. Negotiations or discussions would have to be worked out with the student loan holder to the point of agreement and subject to continued agreement and being pleased and mutual with the situation—business arrangement.
2. Each student loan holder account has to be set and kept being worked on—serviced—individually so that the masses of student loan holders are continuing as a whole with good business practices.

3. Nothing against or unacceptable to a student loan holder is permissible, and merely communicating to the student loan service area is to be all a student loan holder has to do to resolve any issue or concern.

Paragraph 3

1. There can be no negative reporting to a credit bureau, no negative collections activities, no wage garnishments or tax refund blockages, and no negative legal proceedings for student loans.

2. All student loan holders have to be placed and continued on unremovable administrative forbearance set for the next 50 years or longer.

3. Interest added onto student loans can be only 3 to 10 percent on the original or principle student loan, and no continuing interest may be charged.

For example, if a student loan of $20,000 is obtained, the interest, if set at 5% for instance, can be once—a one-time charge—of $1,000 (and in consideration accordingly with a 10 or 20-year payoff time span), and no additional interest may be added to the total ongoing student loan debt of $21,000 (and set accordingly for the payoff period).

4. Each additional student loan is to be handled in the same way, which is with a one-time interest charge (set accordingly for the payoff period) for the amount of money borrowed in the form of a student loan.

Paragraph 4

1. All past and future student loans must be reviewed and set in these ways of following the prescribed guidelines.
2. Some adjustments must be made to past student loans accumulated amounts and their continuances.
3. Student loan consolidations or consolidation loans that were for a higher than fair amount must be further reviewed for adjusting.
4. Student loan holders of the past who overpaid on their student loans in these ways described herein, or who had unfairly high student loan consolidations, can present their claims for being paid back or refunded overpayments.
5. The student loans defense is to be implemented fairly to all people who had, have, or will have student loans.

Handling Masses of Valid Student Loan Defenses

The significant power of the student loan defense was that it could eliminate the student loans entirely when an educational establishment was involved with wrongdoing against a student. The wrongdoing was described in various laws and then with more and more incidents occurring in the years. The eliminating of student loans helps student loan holders get rid of student loan debt, which could have been far beyond a reasonable amount of debt. The trouble was that the educational establishments involved with the wrongdoing were not necessarily penalized to pay the debts instead or to pay more than those debts in penalties. This lack of penalizing wrongdoing educational establishments left the U.S. Department of Education with the unpaid student loans.

While the U.S. Department of Education did guarantee the student loans against default, there was not a fathoming of the educational establishments being involved with such widespread wrongdoing as occurred with the skyrocketing increase of online education and for-profit universities. When education became abundant in the society and on many levels, student loan holders were no longer getting the successful paying jobs or job opportunities following the education. These student loan holders paid just as much if not more for the education as though they were really going to work or were working on those successful paying levels. With this situation reaching extremes, the student loans situation grew to the monstrous levels it reached, and the U.S. Department of Education was potentially being left with far more than ever expected from a few wrongdoing schools or students defaulting. There are many options available for the U.S. Department of Education to be kept able to handle its duties of protecting against wrongdoing and injustice in education, and some need to be applied.

The U.S. Department of Education cannot be let to stray or sway from its honorable beginnings and even with the current student loans situation. The student loan defenses were held for a long time and were built up to be huge without them being hastily wiped out. They could have been wiped out in the early times, and student loan defenses have now, after three years, started being frantically wiped out, but these occurrences have to be reversed, and the student loan defenses cannot be let to be wiped out. The U.S. Department of Education has to be kept able to continue honorably at upholding the student loan defenses and safeguarding against wrongdoing in the field of education throughout the United States society. Funding resources need to be accessed for contributing; other U.S. departments have to contribute; businesses should contribute with offers and opportunities, and some educational establishments should pay their fair share of penalties, and others should make their according contributions.

Realness of Student Loan Defenses

The student loan defenses were not all inappropriate and were not without merits. These situations justifying discharging the student loans went on often and for a long time, and it was good when there was truly something to do about the burdensome and wrongful situation. I myself had so much present that I could have taken care of my more than $250,000 in student loans in a few ways. Which was the right way, was a consideration, and also, at the same time, I ongoing could have been caused to not be able to take care of my student loans at all, as I was originally complaining about formally. I did not want everything in jeopardy all the time. I wanted the student loans situation settled in one of the ways that would truly settle the situation and not just leave everything the same or remaining in jeopardy.

There were many people with these student loan defenses who went through up to three years or longer with the student loan defense purpose of completely discharging the student loans. There was a built-up expectancy of the student loan defense serving its purpose, which was to complete discharging the student loans.

There were U.S. Presidential candidates campaigning with plans to completely discharge all student loans. A couple things that Donald Trump did while acting within the position of the U.S. Presidency just prior to the first pandemic-related economic stimulus package was that he stopped payments and interest of student loans. With such continuances legitimately, the people with the student loan defenses in the present era deserve more than not being pleased with the results produced by the U.S. Department of Education and United States Government.

With me myself, the student loans situation has to be considered. I have had my student loan defense present for 3 years, and at the same time I had professional and official U.S. executive director material with the White House. I was on a doctoral and executive director level through the whole time of the three years and was not yet dealt with or benefited concerning the merits or anything else involved. I, like others with the student loan defenses, had expectancies of the situation being worked out mutually, agreeably, honorably, and pleasingly. I do not want to be disappointed.

Student Loans Servicer Letter Received

I received a letter from the student loans servicer saying of its next position (see Appendix B). The servicer is like a drone. The servicer only follows what the U.S. Department of Education programs it to do. The direction of the letter was with the repeated rhetoric of the Department of Education denying my student loan defense and was not taking anything else into account, including my reconsideration request. The rhetoric made everything of the student loan defense seem meritless and like that is gone and the student loans will just naturally and understandably be continued on with like usual, and of course, that was not the true situation.

The servicer description was only the rhetoric, but also, rhetoric that could be too effectual in the circumstances. The letter went on to describe a subtraction of interest charged during the time of the student loan defense continuance to the present. The description was like everything was accounted for and over with as far the student loan defense goes, and nothing was mentioned of interest credit being a part of the Trump stoppage of student loans interest. The interest credit amounted to more than $38,000, which at first may seem good, but within 3 years, the $38,000 will add right back onto the student loans if the student loans are not truly taken care of correctly. The $38,000 could not be settled for instead of the $260,000 and taking care of the student loans for real.

Crediting the interest that accumulated through the first three years of the student loan defenses may be one thing done but cannot be the only thing done. The $38,000 less of my approximately $260,000 accumulated student loans total is approximately 15% less, and that would make 85% left to go. Subtracting $38,000 from $260,000 leaves $222,000 remaining to be taken care of correctly. Further work in directions of eliminating the $222,000 can be done, or the $38,000 can be put back on, and the whole amount can be taken care of correctly. One way to correctly take care of the whole amount is with the offer I made a year ago, which is for my claim to be honored and for me to pay $100,000 of my student loans and have the rest included in a Student Loans Relinquishment Honor bestowed to me. Before this servicer letter, I already made a reconsideration request, in addition to a document that included my comments to a U.S. District Court involved (Northern California), so there still is potential for the student loans situation to be fully taken care of correctly.

I did also call the student loan defense customer service phone line and questioned about my reconsideration request and the current status of my account. I was told that the reconsideration is noted and that the account status is still on administrative forbearance. That was good. I asked about any time limitations and was told there are none set, which was also good. This means that everything is still on hold, like it should be, and my reconsideration request has to be worked with, and so do my comments to the Court involved.

I am looking for favorable outcomes. I want to be pleased. I am a person who is supposed to be and has to be rewarded and honored. I did well and am a successful person, and I have to be able to do well and be a successful person and without everything being negated and caused to be of no benefit instead. I want to see what I am supposed to be seeing in the times and through the times.

Functional Improvement Necessary

There has to get to being an adequacy of real communication that is not overdone but, also, that is not underdone, either. I am a person who was not dealt with previously, and too long went by like that because of some people taking advantage of the situation while other people did not know what was going on. I maintained everything as best as possible, as I always did, but I still have to be dealt with like I am supposed to be, and that means that I have to be regarded, rewarded, and honored on levels right for me. I am a person who is supposed to be and has to be adequately rewarded and honored. That is how I am and how America is, and I cannot have to be saying about that and explaining about that all the time.

Offers were supposed to be made to me, and opportunities were supposed to be provided. That was especially true with me through the times when I was not dealt with yet. Not being dealt with when I was supposed to be, not receiving rewards and honors due me, and not having opportunities I should have had, caused many very difficult and unjust situations on me. A long amount of time was also caused to be involved, and every time anything like that excessive disregard happens, another long amount of time is caused to be involved. This occurrence is evidenced in the recent era of my active status and work being of your entire administration time (the Trump administration time, with this being the fourth year) and also with the past more than a quarter-century being involved with my active status and work.

You can see that I am referring to my active status and work going through your entire administration time and which, of course, had the United States involved. The same is the situation with the past more than a quarter-century. You have to think about that and regard that appropriately because there is no reason why anyone should push themselves as superior. Such unworthy exaltation would not only insult me, but also, may interfere with some important areas being taken care of appropriately, and that would not be good for anyone. You can also see that I have true seniority and veteran status concerning the United States, not necessarily militaristic or war-laden, but assuredly, professionally, and rightfully the United States governance and country.

Situation of the Present Times

As you know, I recently sent material to here and to a few other relevant places. I communicated to here as I have been and to provide information as to what is going on and where advancements are needed. Everything here is overdue at this point, and the overdue situation has been causing many problems, difficulties, and concerns that there would not be if the issues involved were adequately worked out among the parties involved. The other places have been informed, too, so that a little more could be known about what has been going on and that is relevant to them and their work. Longer could not be gone with everything only at the White House and not enough coming of the material or anything involved, as activity is going on and affects are being caused, thus, necessitating an adequacy of informing for awareness.

The Trump administration has to get adequately caught up in these areas requiring because there is not a sufficiency presently and the present time is very late. Many things should have been done by last year at the latest in order for there to be reasonable timing. These areas are such as the professional position, student loans, and political campaigning. Going into the year of 2020 with these areas still not adequately taken care of was advised against. The advisory presently is to catch up in these areas during the continuance of 2020, and that is going to be the best that can be done for the situation and success levels to be at best.

With my professional position, enough has to be worked out with me to the point where I see an adequacy for providing notice that there is my professional position that I am working more fully in. I would provide notice two weeks to a month in advance and would continue providing enough information. Such information being provided is the opposite of me not doing that at all, as I would do if I do not see a sufficiency. Instead, I would just keep on being successful as I have been and with the situation being as I already described, although I would prefer better and progress.

Professional Considerations involving Student Loans

My back pay has to be paid to me, and my ongoing pay has to be set to be actively paid to me (also see July 2020 invoice, Appendix A). If you here of the Trump administration do not want to take care of the student loans situation, then pay me my money, and I will pay off my student loans myself without you doing anything. Then of course, all involved still has to be worked on concerning the real student loans situation, and that includes all issues of non-mutuality, delays, and undue difficulties caused by so much not being dealt with for so long. Everything cannot just be left lingering in jeopardy, though, any longer at all. My back pay has now surpassed my total student loans, and I insist that you do your jobs or you remain responsible for the continuance of the student loans being unpaid and accumulating interest.

Regarding Recent Legal Comments Made and Precedent Intended to be Set

I sent comments and objections to the Court involved with a law case concerning the student loans (Sweet v. DeVos, No. 19-cv-3674, N.D. Cal.). The law case was a class action case that had some relevancy to me but did not involve me in any other way. Being that the law case was a class action case, which involves many people and not just myself, I have to also generalize and make some expressions relevant to the mass of people with student loans. With that particular law case, I commented and objected that the U.S. Department of Education was engaging in non-mutual activity and producing non-mutual results as the class action law case was in preliminary settlement times and was not yet confirmed as fully settled. The U.S. Department of Education non-mutual actions and results tainted the settlement and made the settlement be something that could not be settled for as it was.

I requested that all non-mutual actions and results of the U.S. Department of Education be reversed and that the settlement be further negotiated. The U.S. Department of Education cannot do any actions that will produce a non-mutual result to any of the student loan class action case members. No result can be non-mutual or not agreed with by the parties involved, which include each class action case member. Nothing effectual can be done by the U.S. Department of Education prior to agreement with the class action case member involved. There cannot be something done by the U.S. Department of Education that a class action case member would have to argue about, fight against, or endeavor to have altered, and there needs to be enough security that the U.S. Department of Education does not do any such things.

My other emphasis, and my original emphasis, was that I did not want any of my materials lessened, negated, or excluded by anything involved with the settlement. I had materials previously presented and important to working out active issues requiring through the past years, just like and including, the student loans. I was not worked with directly concerning the class action case, so while I supported the merits of the class action case, I did not want the class action case to lessen anything on my part. I would not be in agreement with any reduction of my materials that were not directly included in this class action case. These materials I am referring to are not the materials of the class action law case but are the materials I had presented to the White House through the past years.

As examples, I included three director reports. These director reports, like the rest of my materials, have to be honored regardless of and in addition to anything involved with the class action law case. I still have to have my job and status, with authority included, with or without anything involved with the class action law case and whatever is involved with student loans. Everything with me is not based on student loans or the outcomes or situations involving student loans, and it is just that student loans have been involved and are a national issue. I still need my professional position that is what the credentials, knowledge, experience, and merits are for, that pays my expenses including and beyond student loans, and that takes care of things on my levels.

Director Reports of the U.S. Department of Sovereignty

Further, in consideration of the class action case and the numerous people involved with that and student loans in general, my director reports can be applied. The director position is for a department of the United States. The department is one that was established to fill a long requiring area of the United States. The area is the United States being the United States and being a full United States as it is supposed to be and has to be for itself and its people. The area covered or secured is sovereignty of the United States because people of the United States have rights and interests to a full United States without worrying about or doing so much, which cannot reasonably be done.

The U.S. Department of Sovereignty has not yet been paid its start-up funding of $3 billion for the year of 2020. The current amount due the Sovereignty Department is $2,000,000,000, which is for the eight months of this year so far (see Sovereignty Department August 2020 invoice, Appendix C). With this money being paid to the department, as is due, much can be done. Personnel can be added, and projects can be taken on and advanced. A couple of such projects could, for example, be student loans and the national debt.

These types of projects involve all U.S. divisions and not only the U.S. Department of Sovereignty. The Sovereignty Department does this type of work and works in interests of all U.S divisions. The Department of Sovereignty is not against other departments, and no U.S. Department can be against the U.S. Department of Sovereignty. The U.S. Department of Sovereignty can work with other U.S. departments such as the U.S. Department of Education to take care of student loans and the U.S. Treasury and Federal Reserve banks to take care of the national debt. The U.S. Department of Sovereignty can handle the sovereignty issues of the country and can help other United States divisions and the United States as a whole, but the U.S. Department of Sovereignty has to receive its honor due.

I will add in here that the United States Department of Sovereignty is important concerning the United States, but also, this department affects and influences the other countries and people of the world. This department enables the United States to be better off and to function more as a leader and role model for other countries of the world. This department provides much guidance and persuasive authority to other countries of the world. This department adding to this country being successful enables this country to do better with other countries and provides for an optimal situation with the people of this country and other countries. The U.S. Department of Sovereignty better enabling the United States to be successful nationally is essential because this country has to be being successful for itself and its own people but also for the sakes of other countries of the world and their people.

Conclusion

As said earlier, I have to be dealt with by and concerning the United States Government. I have to be dealt with on my terms. Anything that is anything relevant has to be presented to me for my approval. People currently associated with the U.S. Government have to do their jobs and without saying to or about everyone else. I request and expect, that relevant communication, including with rewarding offers and opportunities, be made to me in this month of August 2020.

Dear JOSEPH MALLON:

07/14/20

The U.S. Department of Education (ED) recently communicated with you through an email from noreply@studentloans.gov or a mailed letter about your application for borrower defense discharge. ED informed you that we, as your servicer, would contact you in follow up to ED's determination that your application is ineligible for relief based on review of the facts of your claim and the regulatory criteria for relief.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

Given ED's determination, your Direct Loans were not discharged. You must repay those loans.

ED instructed us to apply a credit in the amount of $38,496.02 to your account because it took ED an extended period of time to review your claim. We applied the credit first toward unpaid interest and then toward principal if no unpaid interest remained.

Note: This interest exemption does not apply to privately-held loans from the Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) Program that you may have. It applies only to your Direct Loans and/or government-held FFEL Program loans.

WHAT YOU NEED TO DO

The only thing you need to do now is watch for other communications from us. Those communications will provide you with information about the loans we service for you on ED's behalf and inform you when action is needed.

HOW TO CONTACT US

We're available to help you understand this information. You can contact us using the contact information below:

Visit us online at Navient.com or give us a call at 800-722-1300, Monday – Thursday 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Saturday 8 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Reminder in August 2020

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

I just thought I would send you a reminder that I communicated to you for this month.

This month of August is an important month because this is the last full month of the 2020 summer season. You here of the Trump administration should have at least one thing that adds to the U.S. Presidential campaigning before the summer ends and that you can continue with toward the actual election. You, of course, really should have at least a few things like this, and you have the potential and ability with me but not without me. You do not have to do everything concerning everything involving me, but you should have one or more things that add, and by things, I mean relevant areas you are doing well in and merits truly present and active.

My professional position of a United States executive director is one of those areas.

Another area is advancing a new department of the United States, and I do not mean the Space Force but do mean the Department of Sovereignty. Education is another important area right now and especially concerning the student loans situation, which needs to be handled correctly. Getting out of the national pandemic times and into times of securing the economy are other areas absolutely essential to advance successfully. There are many more areas, too, and to do well with me in any of these areas would add and be something that would contribute to U.S. Presidential campaigning.

Nothing is going to be everything for Presidential campaigning this year. Everything will not be addressed and taken care of this year. There is not enough time before the 2020 election day. There should, though, be more than nothing additive before the end of this month of August and to continue with during the following months of September to in November 2020. Remember that you here of the Trump administration communicating back to me relevantly would be an addition with more than four years of substance and would be beyond anything on the Democrat side and that even most democrats would not oppose.

Select a few areas to work with me progressively. Give me something that I can work with when I want, at my convenience, and that would not take me more than a couple hours in a week. I will spend the time I deem appropriate, take my actions, and exert my emphasis. I will continue to uphold, carry-out, and advance all on my part, which would be adding to your campaigning because you would be successfully dealing with me and relevant issues involved. Your campaigning would heighten to not only staying even with the democrats but to being decisive and winning everyone including democrats, in addition to republicans, independents, and others.

No matter what, I have to keep looking at the important areas requiring and staying successful concerning them. I want my doctorate and post-doctorate that I earned. I have an excellent 2012 edition of my dissertation for my doctorate I earned in 2012, and I have an absolutely excellent 2019 edition of my dissertation for my post-doctorate I earned in 2019. I have to have my U.S. executive director job secured, and I need to be paid my director position back-pay of presently more than $285,000 so that I can pay the first $100,000 on my student loans and have the rest of my student loans discharged as a Student Loans Relinquishment Honor. I have to continue remaining successful and to pay my bills and fulfill my responsibilities.

I myself am not campaigning. I do not have to be voted for or elected in the present times. I only have to be dealt with concerning the relevant areas involved, such as my United States directorship. You here of the Trump administration have nothing to lose by dealing well with me; it would not hurt for you to deal successfully with me, and you have everything to gain by dealing meritoriously with me. I recommend to get something done in my directions before the end of this month of August 2020, and that can only be accomplished by dealing with me for real and making a relevant presentation to me before this month ends.

I look forward to receiving your communication to me so that I can follow-up accordingly.

Thank you,

Dear JOSEPH MALLON:

07/14/20

The U.S. Department of Education (ED) recently communicated with you through an email from noreply@studentloans.gov or a mailed letter about your application for borrower defense discharge. ED informed you that we, as your servicer, would contact you in follow up to ED's determination that your application is ineligible for relief based on review of the facts of your claim and the regulatory criteria for relief.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

Given ED's determination, your Direct Loans were not discharged. You must repay those loans.

ED instructed us to apply a credit in the amount of $38,496.02 to your account because it took ED an extended period of time to review your claim. We applied the credit first toward unpaid interest and then toward principal if no unpaid interest remained.

Note: This interest exemption does not apply to privately-held loans from the Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) Program that you may have. It applies only to your Direct Loans and/or government-held FFEL Program loans.

WHAT YOU NEED TO DO

The only thing you need to do now is watch for other communications from us. Those communications will provide you with information about the loans we service for you on ED's behalf and inform you when action is needed.

HOW TO CONTACT US

We're available to help you understand this information. You can contact us using the contact information below:

Visit us online at Navient.com or give us a call at 800-722-1300, Monday – Thursday 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Saturday 8 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Another Reminder in August 2020

Another reminder

I am sending another reminder because we are now finishing this month of August 2020. I have not heard back yet. There are important areas involved, as I have been expressing. One area important and involved is student loans and education. Are you, or is anyone there, working on the education issues active? I have a dissertation that is active and requiring its due honor. My professional position of executive director has to be secured, too.

Just let me know what you have to present to me.

I am presently resending my previous communication.

I look forward to receiving your reply.

Subject: August 2020 concerning US - Director - 2 - Reminder

SEPTEMBER 2020September 1, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

What university did you make contact with to work with my dissertation? Which university has agreed with you to work with me to receive my doctorate and post-doctorate? September is the traditional month for education. Academics are traditionally a big thing during September to in December. What university do you have ready to issue me my doctorate and post-doctorate for my advanced doctoral level work done through the past years and as is evidenced with my official material here with the Trump administration at the White House?

Back in 2011, I finished all the subject-matter courses in the doctoral program and did excellently. I then became a doctoral candidate. I then finished the required dissertation courses, and in March 2012, I submitted my dissertation into the area for the final reviews and approvals. At this point, my dissertation and the doctoral program were in the very ending times, and everything only had to be finished up. As described in various places, the university involved left my dissertation to be honored through the next years to now when I still have my excellent 2012 dissertation ready for a qualified American university to honor and bestow my doctorate to me.

After 2012 when I in actuality earned my doctorate by completing the doctoral program on highest of quality levels, as far as on my part, I continued working with my already excellent dissertation. I did more work with my dissertation. I advanced a next full-scale edition of my dissertation. I did post-doctoral work through the years of 2013 to 2019 and completed my post-doctoral edition of my dissertation in June 2019 (see included sample of Chapter 5 of 2019 Post-doctorate Dissertation edition). As I have been communicating to here at the White House since in the summer of 2019, I have my post-doctoral 2019 edition of my dissertation ready for a qualified American university to honor and bestow my post-doctorate to me.

A qualified American university has to issue my doctorate and post-doctorate to me for many reasons and including because the student loans issue has to be taken care of, too. My continuing good work shows that I always did good work and including on advanced doctoral levels. I did have everything there in 2012 to earn my doctorate without needing years additional. The university involved back then did not earn student loan merits by leaving my dissertation to be honored later through the next years by some qualified American university that the White House may help at arranging. Issuing my doctorate and post-doctorate goes along with discharging my student loans in a Student Loans Relinquishment Honor and formally honoring my United States executive director position (also see Appendix A: Director Invoice).

I received another letter from Navient, the servicer for the U.S. Department of Education, which is the owner of the student loans and a part of the Trump administration (see Appendix B). The servicer mentioned that student loans are continuing on hold until December 31st, 2020 with no interest or payments. This time there was a specific mention of Trump authorizing no interest and no payments on the student loans until 12-31-2020, whereas the previous time Trump was not mentioned. The letter is a standardized letter that was sent out to masses of people with student loans on hold right now. The letter did not deal with me specifically, my reconsideration request, my materials with the Federal Court in the Northern District of California, or my reports presented to the White House during the past four years.

The student loans servicer letter has to be understood as what it is in truth. The letter was good word for student loans holders in that Trump authorized no interest and no payments until 12/31/2020, but also, there is supposed to be indefinitely continuing administrative forbearance. Additionally, there cannot be a forgetting that all involved with the student loans situation and defense does not come from covid-19 affects or acts. The student loans are supposed to be kept on hold indefinitely until the student loans situation is worked out mutually with each student loan holder and especially those who are class action case members (Sweet v. DeVos, No. 19-cv-3674, N.D. Cal.). The student loans situation still has to be fully worked out because, otherwise, the same problems will continue and any good done with the student loans issue will be wiped out in a short amount of continuing time passage. The jeopardy has to be taken out of the continuance because no party involved should have to linger on with jeopardy as time passes by with no alleviating end in sight. With my request for reconsideration and court documents presented to the U.S. Department of Education, I abundantly informed the U.S.

Department of Education of what is going on, as I likewise informed the U.S. District Court, Harvard Law School, and the White House.

The White House alone is no longer the only party informed of this vital information concerning the student loans issue and other top priority national issues. The U.S. Department of Education is also not the only party informed about what is going on. The Republican National Committee was not directly informed in the present times but was well informed in past years.

Some word could have leaked out to the Democrats. If the Trump administration, the U.S. Department of Education, or even the Republican Party plays dumb, that would only be dumb, and the Democrats could play you for dumb, being that the Democrats know what you think they do not know. You would be the ones at fault and not the Democrats. Better on your part is strongly recommended. Again, in the present times, relevant information was provided to the Trump administration at the White House, Harvard Law School, the U.S. Department of Education, and the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California.

I have been wondering who is advising Trump concerning not only the U.S. Presidency but also U.S. Presidential campaigning. All expressed here is active concerning the U.S. Presidency, and power is present to do well in these areas to impress and influence the American people and Presidential election voters. Biden and the democrats campaigning toward the U.S. Presidential election cannot do these things and can only promise to do these things if elected. Trump and the Trump administration can do these things now and also make promises for the future. To be able to do things now is an advantage unwise to waste. U.S.

Presidential advisers should be advising correctly and with intents to win decisively and not just remain even.

There are more than 40 million people with student loans. The entire state of New York has a population of a little more than 19 million people. These 40 million people are not limited to the state of New York and are throughout the entire United States country. Most of these 40 million people affect or influence other people, too, so that could easily make the total people amount to 60 million. Influencing these people to a point where even 40 of the 60 million people actually vote for the particular candidate, such as Trump, would be a substantial boost and could add to significantly influencing electors and to decisively winning the U.S. Presidential election. That is how important the student loans issue is immediately and ongoing, not just some time in the future but immediately and ongoing.

I have my 2012 dissertation edition for my doctorate, and I have my 2019 dissertation edition for my post-doctorate. You can write a dissertation in a doctoral program, and with a good, passable dissertation, you can earn your doctorate. You can then work more on your dissertation—do more with your dissertation—and do post-doctorate work, and you can earn a post-doctorate. I earned my doctorate and then my post-doctorate, and with the societal circumstances being as they were through the years of post-doctoral work, a qualified American university is needed to work with my two dissertation editions and issue a doctorate and post-doctorate to me. I am eager to be informed of one or more potential universities that are willing and ready to work with my two dissertation editions and issue me my doctorate and post-doctorate credentials.

I am including here as an attachment a sample of my 2019 post-doctoral dissertation. Chapter 5 of my 2019 post-doctoral dissertation is included. The work is presented to show that the dissertation is around, requiring, and worthy of due honors of post-doctorate completion, which is not only complete now but was complete a year ago in June 2019. This sample of my dissertation is not to be mistreated in any way. There are to be no negative assertions involving it and no criticism, and there can be no attempts to correct it, improve it, add to it, or rephrase any of it.

My 2012 and 2019 editions of my dissertation are at end points and not at beginning or middle points. With me, the doctoral and post-doctoral programs have to be ended successfully and not started or continued. There can be only positive movement, only rewards, only praises, inspirations, and exaltations, and there has to be and remain only intent to complete the university end of working with the dissertation, doctorate, and post-doctorate. There can be no bad intent or intent to delay, and there can be only intent to have all be efficient and successful.

You can communicate back to me with offers and opportunities you have to present to me. I have to receive my doctorate and post-doctorate credentials in regard of my past years of advanced doctoral level work, my 2012 doctoral dissertation edition, and my 2019 post-doctoral dissertation edition. I have to have my United States executive director official position secured (also see Appendix C:

Sovereignty Department Invoice). I have to have my Student Loans Relinquishment Honor. These areas are education, student loans, and professional career. These areas involve and affect other areas and are important for adding success to U.S. Presidential campaigning. Accomplishments made here in these directions are each an addition for U.S. Presidential campaigning. Each addition is a substantial merit worthy of regard, prestige, and influence.

I request communication back as soon as possible in this present month of September 2020 so that appropriate continuing plans can be made.

Thank you,

Student loan repayment and interest rate suspension for ED-owned Federal Student Loans have been extended to Dec. 31.

JOSEPH,

On Aug. 8, 2020, President Trump extended the 0% student loan interest rate and suspension of payments on federal student loans owned by the Department of Education (ED) until Dec. 31, 2020.

What does this mean?

- You are not required to make payments on ED-owned loans until Jan. 1, 2021, and no interest will accumulate.
- Payments you would have made, but are no longer required to make, will count toward income-driven repayment (IDR) plan loan forgiveness.
- Payments you would have made, but are no longer required to make, will count toward Public Service Loan Forgiveness (PSLF) if you have a non-defaulted Direct Loan and work full-time for a qualifying employer during the suspension. You will need to submit an Employment Certification Form that includes this period to receive credit for your employment during this suspension of payment period.
- If you can continue paying your student loans while your loans are at 0% interest rate, your payments go farther toward reducing the principal balance of your loan amount once any outstanding interest has been paid. If you are already making voluntary payments nothing changes. If not, you may make voluntary payments by contacting us.

You Never Have to Pay for Help

Avoid student aid scams. You never have to pay for help with your federal student aid. Your student loan servicer provides free help with your questions or concerns about your loan payments.

OCTOBER 2020October 1, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

The issue of my professional material being communicated, active, honorable, and loaded with potential through the past four years and my executive director position being involved has to be addressed. My professional position has many affects on the United States, its people, and myself. I have plenty to do with benefits and abilities from my advanced level professional position with the United States. Many issues involving the United States are affected by results my professional position has on them, and the same applies to many thousands of people throughout the United States who are affected in one way or another by my professional position. As the areas of my professional position are thriving, all affected and influenced thrives, and as my professional position is not on full success levels, all affected areas are also less than they would otherwise be and have high opportunity costs.

Right Level Honor and Functionality

My United States executive director position honors my background credentials of a college degree, a Master's degree, and all involved with doctoral levels involving me and also handles student loans and value of the advanced level education. With my professional position going through the time not adequately honored, my credentials are not valued or honored, and the professional position cannot handle the student loans, does not provide value to the advanced level education, and does not even handle my pay or bills I have to pay. My professional position of a United States executive director has been requiring its due honor and securing through the past four years to the present time so that areas, such as the student loans and value of credentials, can be handled. With these areas handled, more is possible, and without handling these areas, everything lingers on requiring. Handling these areas in a mutually successful way would add meritoriously and impressively to U.S. Presidential campaigning, which has only one more month to go.

Law Case Hearing concerning Student Loans Defenses

There was a law case set for a hearing scheduled October 1st, 2020 (see Appendix B). This law case was mainly involving the student loans situation of defenses that remained unanswered in up to more than 3 years. A preliminary settlement was reached and with comments or objections allowed up to August 20th, 2020. After the preliminary settlement was reached, the U.S. Department of Education attempted to get rid of as many student loan defenses as possible as quickly as possible. To counter that action, a Request for Reconsideration had to be made, as I did, although such a Request for Reconsideration should not have had to be made.

Because I made the Request for Reconsideration, my student loans situation was temporarily secured as it was previously, but jeopardy still continued because the securing was temporary and my official materials at the White House had not yet been secured. In addition, because I had to make the Request for Reconsideration, I made comments and objections to the court about the settlement. I was previously in favor of the settlement and just wanted the settlement to not interfere with, lessen, or negate any aspect of my official documents presented to the White House through the past years. After the U.S. Department of Education engaged in non-mutual action and caused the Request for Reconsideration to be necessary in the preliminary settlement times, the settlement could no longer be accepted. The settlement had to be renegotiated or adjusted to correct any negative or non-mutual occurrences that happened or could happen.

For the court hearing on October 1st, 2020, I sent my comments and objections to the settlement that I pointed out was tainted by the non-mutual U.S. Department of Education actions. As said, I had to have my comments and objections in to the court before August 20th, 2020, and I did and was well ahead of time. I included a copy of the Request for Reconsideration necessarily made. I also mentioned about my requiring-to-be-secured United States executive director position and reports I have presented to the White House through the past years, and I included three of my official reports. I did not present more than that to the court because I did not want to burden the court with too much information.

I did continue, though, to make my reports to here at the White House through the continuing months. I also sent copies to Harvard Law School so that any attorneys working on the active case could be informed of the continuance up to the day of the hearing scheduled for October 1st, 2020. I additionally started and continued posting my official documents on my website and made readily available for other websites. I continued my invoices, too, and one was for my professional executive director position with the United States (see Appendix A), and the other was for the U.S. Department of Sovereignty (see Appendix D). Further, I continued with all my other obligations and interests and remained abundantly successful through all that time, although still requiring rewards and honors due to the department and myself.

August 2020 U.S. Executive Director Report

In my August report I included some guidelines for student loans. These guidelines should be further worked with and adopted by parties working with the student loans. I did not send these student loans guidelines to the court because I did not want the court officials to think that I am trying to make all the rules and laws or do the work that is for the court to do. Including the student loan guidelines in my August 2020 U.S. Executive Director report was appropriate, though. These guidelines are as follows.

Guidelines of this Section - Precedent

Paragraph 1

1. Good faith effort has to be made to set and maintain mutuality with each person who has a student loan.
2. Nothing against a student loan holder can be done, and anything done has to be after obtaining an agreement with or consent from the student loan holder.

Paragraph 2

1. If a student loan holder says no to something or objects to something or some kind of action, then that issue has to be addressed and the action cannot be done.
 - a. Nothing additional can be done until and unless the student loan holder agrees or consents.
 - b. Negotiations or discussions would have to be worked out with the student loan holder to the point of agreement and subject to continued agreement and being pleased and mutual with the situation – business arrangement.
2. Each student loan holder account has to be set and kept being worked on – serviced – individually so that the masses of student loan holders are continuing as a whole with good business practices.
3. Nothing against or unacceptable to a student loan holder is permissible, and merely communicating to the student loan service area is to be all a student loan holder has to do to resolve any issue or concern.

Paragraph 3

1. There can be no negative reporting to a credit bureau, no negative collections activities, no wage garnishments or tax refund blockages, and no negative legal proceedings for student loans.
2. All student loan holders have to be placed and continued on unremovable administrative forbearance set for the next 50 years or longer.

3. Interest added onto student loans can be only 3 to 10 percent on the original or principle student loan, and no continuing interest may be charged.

For example, if a student loan of $20,000 is obtained, the interest, if set at 5% for instance, can be once – a one-time charge – of $1,000 (and in consideration accordingly with a 10 or 20-year payoff time span), and no additional interest may be added to the total ongoing student loan debt of $21,000 (and set accordingly for the payoff period).

4. Each additional student loan is to be handled in the same way, which is with a one-time interest charge (set accordingly for the payoff period) for the amount of money borrowed in the form of a student loan.

Paragraph 4

1. All past and future student loans must be reviewed and set in these ways of following the prescribed guidelines.

2. Some adjustments must be made to past student loans accumulated amounts and their continuances.

3. Student loan consolidations or consolidation loans that were for a higher than fair amount must be further reviewed for adjusting.

4. Student loan holders of the past who overpaid on their student loans in these ways described herein, or who had unfairly high student loan consolidations, can present their claims for being paid back or refunded overpayments.

5. The student loans defense is to be implemented fairly to all people who had, have, or will have student loans. (Mallon, U.S. Executive Director Report, August 2020)

Results of October 1st, 2020 Court Hearing

The results of the court hearing on October 1st, 2020 have to be addressed. As the “Student borrowers...” (2020) reported, the results so far are that the court decision was not made at the hearing or by its end, and further consideration was determined as necessary. Hundreds of student loan holders attended, and the student loan holders expressed that the U.S. Department of Education made bad faith actions by uniformly denying student loans defense claims and without justification or a regard to the substance of the claims (“Student borrowers...,” 2020). “Student borrowers...” (2020) further expressed that the U.S. Department of Education had already breached the settlement by consistently denying student loan claims.

“Student borrowers...” (2020) mentioned that through the past years the student loans situation has been adversely affecting people’s living, working, and family life. The “Student borrowers...” (2020) pointed out that the U.S. officials, such as those of the U.S. Department of Education, have not been taking the student loan defense claimant assertions, complaints, or legal proceedings seriously (“Student borrowers...,” 2020). An observance “Student borrowers...” (2020) mentioned was that there has already been plenty of time to work out this student loans situation, but the time was used to do other things obliviously and to skew the situation away from the student loan defense holders' rights and interests. The student loan defense holders had valid claims and had rights to be regarded effectively and to have the issues worked out acceptably ("Student borrowers...", 2020). With the past occurrences of unfounded denials of student loan defenses, the U.S. Department of Education has become untrustworthy of deciding on the student loan defenses fairly or reasonably ("Student borrowers...", 2020).

The "Student borrowers..." (2020) report additionally had expressed that the student loan claimants received form denials that were the same regardless of the issues and circumstances. The "Student borrowers..." (2020) stated that the mass of denials was against the settlement and that the settlement is fair only if it is not intentionally breached.

"Student borrowers..." (2020) reported that the U.S Department of Education denying thousands of student loan defenses after the April 2020 settlement starting times caught the judge's attention as concerning. Perceived was that these nonmutual occurrences happened despite legal actions taken following official findings of merits of the student loan defense claimants ("Student borrowers...", 2020; also see Appendix C).

U.S. Executive Director Situation and Including with Student Loans

I previously reviewed some considerations. As you know, I did already make a claim and an offer. My claim was for my director pay, which included back pay since 2018 and pay up to date and continuing actively. That pay at the time was around $200,000 but is presently at more than $300,000. My offer was to pay the first $100,000 of my executive pay on the student loans and have the rest discharged as a Student Loans Relinquishment Honor.

I also previously mentioned that the back pay (more than $300,000) for my executive director position with the United States now amounts to more than the total of my student loans (approximately $250,000). My back-pay alone could more than pay off my entire student loans total, although the Student Loans Relinquishment Honor and discharge are appropriate and should be included. I further mentioned that if my credentials, background experience, and official executive director reports presented to the White House through the past years are going to be ignored and disregarded, then all of the student loans should be completely discharged. If all this, and everything else, is going to be ignored and be made to be of no benefit, then I could be left in jeopardy of not being able to handle my student loans at all.

The results of the October 1st, 2020 court hearing have to be looked at, and the continuance with the student loans has to be accordingly worked out. Everything other than the student loans is separate although may be affected. I still do have my two editions of my dissertation that were already communicated about to here, and a qualified American university is needed to do the university work involved with issuing doctorate and post-doctorate credentials to me. My 2012 edition of my dissertation is for my doctorate, and my 2019 edition of my dissertation is for my post-doctorate. Of course, this education area being worked out is in addition to my professional position with the United States being worked out and secured.

You can see that my work and professional level is very advanced, and I have worked on these levels for a long time. Understanding my rank and status as being advanced and treating me as being on my advanced levels needs progress. Me being a teacher of teachers has to be developed into the professional role so that there can be more understanding of this being the situation rather than there being a discrepancy as to what is known and expected. I should not have to be only explaining about everything, and much is supposed to be built into the functioning without me needing to explain about everything all the time. I cannot, should not, and will not be explaining about how the situation is supposed to be as compared to how the situation is through the times.

Tell Me What You are Going to Do

If you want to be in a right way and be successful, you can and should relevantly communicate back to me. Tell me what offers and opportunities you have to present to me. Tell me what universities are interested in working with my two editions of my dissertation – my 2012 dissertation for my doctorate and my 2019 dissertation for my post-doctorate. Tell me how you are going to advance at working out the claim I made and my offer to pay off the first $100,000 of my student loans from my U.S. executive director back-pay of presently more than $300,000 and to have the rest of my student loans discharged with a Student Loans Relinquishment Honor. Tell me how you are going to secure the U.S. Department of Sovereignty in its beginning times and with its start-up funding earned through this year of 2020 and that is now totaling

$2,500,000,000 of $3 Billion for the year of 2020. Tell me how you are going to have the Republican Party by way of the Republican National Committee working with me successfully through October, the last month before the U.S. Presidential election of 2020. Tell me how you are going to have the situation advancing with me establishing more peace throughout the United States and the rest of the world with my resources and involvement with the Trump administration, Republican party, United States, and Sovereignty.

Conclusion

I look forward to receiving relevant communication back in this month of October, the month before the U.S. Presidential election of 2020.

Thank you,

Borrower Defense Application #: 01400527

Dear Joseph Mallon:

Your rights may be affected, please read carefully.

You filed an application asking the U.S. Department of Education to cancel some or all of your federal student loan debt because the school you (or your child) attended did something wrong. This is known as a borrower defense application.

As a borrower defense applicant, you may have been previously informed that you may be part of a class action lawsuit in a case called Sweet v. DeVos, which challenges the Department of Education's delay in issuing final decisions on borrower defense applications, including yours.

We previously wrote to inform you that there is a proposed settlement of the lawsuit. The settlement will not become final until it is approved by the court as fair, adequate, and reasonable. The prior Notice informed you that the court will hold a public hearing, called a fairness hearing, to decide if the proposed settlement is fair. The hearing will be held on October 1, 2020, beginning at 8 a.m. Pacific Time.

Why are we writing?

We now write to inform you that the October 1 hearing will not be held in person but will proceed by telephone. You should consult the website for the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, <https://www.cand.uscourts.gov/> for specific directions on how to attend and comment on the proposed settlement by phone. You should review these directions as soon as possible, as a specific deadline (September 28, 2020 at 5 p.m. Pacific Time) and procedures will apply to request an opportunity to speak at the hearing (even if you previously submitted a written request to the Clerk of Court per the instructions provided in the prior Notice).

Where can I get more information?

There is more information about the Sweet v. DeVos lawsuit on Class Counsel's website at <https://predatorystudentlending.org/sweet-v-devos-class-members/> and on the Department of Education's website at StudentAid.gov/Sweet. Check this site periodically for updated information about the lawsuit.

A copy of the proposed settlement is available online at <https://predatorystudentlending.org/wp-content/uploads/2020/06/097-2-Settlement-Agreement.pdf>

If you have questions about your borrower defense application or the status of your federal student loans, contact our borrower defense hotline at 1-855-279-6207. The hotline is available from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Eastern Time on Monday through Friday.

If you have questions about this lawsuit or about the proposed settlement, please visit this Frequently Asked Questions page, <https://predatorystudentlending.org/sweet-v-devos-class-members/>, which also has contact information for the lawyers who brought the lawsuit.

STUDENT BORROWERS TO JUDGE: DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION CAN'T BE TRUSTED TO PROCESS BORROWER DEFENSE CLAIMS FAIRLY | PRESS RELEASE

October 1, 2020

More than 500 Student Borrowers Attended Fairness Hearing to Address Borrower Defense Settlement and Blanket Denials

BOSTON – A federal judge today heard from student borrowers at a fairness hearing on the proposed settlement between students and the United States Department of Education that forces the Department to process all pending borrower defense claims.

The public hearing was held via Zoom, by the United States District Court for the Northern District of California. More than 500 students attended the hearing, more than 200 sent in comments and requests to speak, and fourteen spoke about the settlement and how the Department of Education has been acting in bad faith by issuing blanket denials without any consideration of their claims.

Student borrowers filed a motion in federal court two weeks ago asking for final approval of the settlement, while also asking the judge to enforce the terms of the settlement that parties agreed to. The borrowers argued that the Department has already breached the settlement agreement, signed in April, by issuing cursory, blanket denials of nearly all of the borrower defense claims it has decided.

The fourteen speakers gave passionate and at times emotional testimony on how their schools, and their subsequent mistreatment at the hands of the Department of Education, has affected their lives, their careers, and their families.

“Betsy DeVos and the Department of Education should apologize to students, plaintiffs, and the court for treating this lawsuit like a joke,” said class member Hugh McGinley. “The Department has had plenty of time to address all of the claims, but instead used that time to ignore students and bend the rules to help for-profit schools.”

“The predators at these schools have taken advantage of students, and we are entitled to a fair and thorough review of our claims,” added Kishan Redding.

The message from borrowers, whether they approved of or disapproved of the settlement, was clear: they do not have confidence that the Department of Education is capable of issuing fair and reasoned decisions, in part because of the unlawful blanket adjudication notices it has issued.

“As student borrowers expressed loud and clear today, they do not trust the Department of Education to process their borrower defense claims fairly and according to the law,” said Eileen Connor, Legal Director at the Project on Predatory Student Lending. “Today over 500 students heard from each other and recognized many were given the same denial, word-for-word, regardless of where or which school they attended. Issuing sweeping, blanket denials to students is a direct violation of the agreement. As representatives of the class, the settlement that students and the Department agreed to is fair and acceptable to borrowers only if it is executed in good faith.”

The judge expressed concern that the Department of Education has issued thousands of blanket denials since the settlement agreement was filed in April. The court focused in on the fact that some borrowers have been denied relief despite public enforcement actions finding wrongdoing at their schools. The students highlighted this issue in their motion for a preliminary status conference and motion to enforce the settlement. The judge did not make a final decision on whether to approve the settlement today.

Case Background:

Over the past several decades, millions of students borrowed federal student loans to attend various for-profit colleges, including ITT Technical Institute, Corinthian Colleges, the Art Institutes, Salter College, and Brooks Institute of Photography. This industry falsely promises students high-paying jobs, state-of-the-art vocational training, and meaningful careers.

Between 2015 and 2019, over 200,000 former students have asserted their right under federal law to discharge their federal student loans due to their schools' misconduct. As it was legally obligated to do, the Department of Education started to adjudicate these borrower defenses, approving nearly 28,000 borrower defenses in the six-month period before January 20, 2017.

Then, under Secretary DeVos, the Department of Education refused to adjudicate any borrower defense claims for well over a year, and stopped the processing of borrower defense applications.

The Department of Education's decision to keep these students in limbo has further destroyed students' credit and limited their access to federal student aid. For students who have defaulted on their loans, the Department of Education has invoked its extraordinary powers to garnish their wages or seize their tax refunds (for many, their Earned Income Tax Credit).

Six students brought this lawsuit in June 2019. Immediately after filing the lawsuit, the students asked the court to let them represent all other former students whose claims for loan cancellation have stalled, with a motion for class certification. The motion included almost 900 affidavits from students describing the harm that the Department's inaction has caused – with 96% saying their lives were made worse by attending school. In October 2019, the court certified the class of over 200,000 borrowers with pending claims. Many had been pending for more than four years.

The parties reached a settlement in April 2020 and received preliminary approval from the court in May 2020. The settlement agreement commits the Department to an 18-month timeline to issue a final decision on the more than 100,000 outstanding borrower defense claims, or else be required to cancel a portion of the borrowers' student loans. However, since April, the Department has denied 94% of borrower defense claims without giving real reasons. On September 18, 2020, the students filed a motion asking for final approval of the settlement, while also asking the judge to enforce the terms of the settlement that the parties agreed to, and are entitled to, under the law.

This lawsuit builds on other cases that hold the Department of Education accountable to students in court. In Williams v. King, Everest students fought back against the Department of Education stealing their tax refunds, and won. In Calvillo Manriquez v. DeVos, Corinthian students stopped the Department from going back on its decision to discharge their loans completely. And in Bauer v. DeVos, two former Art Institutes students forced the Department to implement the 2016 Borrower Defense rule. In August 2019, Secretary DeVos issued a new borrower defense rule imposing near-impossible standards for loan discharge; in February 2020, the Project challenged the new rule in court.

About the Project on Predatory Student Lending

Established in 2012, the Project on Predatory Student Lending represents former students of predatory for-profit colleges. Its mission is to litigate to make it legally and financially impossible for federally-funded predatory schools to cheat students and taxpayers. The Project has brought a wide variety of cases on behalf of former students of for-profit colleges. It has sued the federal Department of Education for its failures to meet its legal obligation to police this industry and stop the perpetration and collection of fraudulent student loan debt.

NOVEMBER 2020

November 1, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

My work continued through this year of 2020 to the present and remains active, strong, successful, and requiring its due honor and reward. I repeat my claim I made in July 2019, which is for my professional work and status to be regarded and rewarded, including in accord with my presented invoice (see Appendixes A & D). The U.S. Department of Sovereignty continues doing well also, and remains with tremendous potential (see Appendix B). Official communication remained active on my part with communication outwardly made and communication lines open through the past times to the present. Active long-term national issues, such as student loans and the state of education, remained kept-up with and monitored for accurately evaluating the appropriate continuance when not being in full control or power. In these times of myself being previous to receiving due benefits, rewards, honor, support, or facilitation, optimal success was achieved on all fronts, thus further justifying better experiences, functionality, and accommodating.

Better than Nothing Worked Out Still Necessary

As I have expressed through the past to the present, nothing was worked out mutually with me, although there has been obligation and appropriateness for parties involved to endeavor to work out the situation within reasonable amounts of time. These areas involve the real United States along with humanity and civilization. These areas and their continuance go far beyond the Republican party, the Democratic party, and the U.S. Presidential election of November 2020, especially when so long has been gone through before the issues involved have been reasonably worked out. There should not be any longer gone without an adequacy in these areas of this nation's vital interests. Nation-level punishments, such as plagues, fires, and wars, cannot be let to get worse and must be reversed.

U.S. Presidential Election 2020

The U.S. Presidential election situation appears to have Joe Biden (Biden) as winning the election. Trump has legal proceedings initiated, so their outcomes would depend on if anything comes of the legal proceedings. Something would have to come of them, though, for the situation to be anything other than Biden continuing as having won the election. I still say everything I previously expressed and pointedly say that the real reason Trump did not win the election is because of my material, along with myself, still not dealt with yet. My sphere is a lot to leave out and obviously, was too much to leave out.

To be brief, my material was around before Trump's four years in the U.S. Presidency, went through the four years, and still is present and requiring. My ultimate levels go up to involving history, America, and humanity and civilization, and my professional levels have evidenced U.S. government executive levels through the past four years. My student loans defense remained active through the past four years to the present, and I made some directly relevant legal proclamations, in addition to making inclusions in U.S. government executive director reports. I also maintained two editions of an advanced and completed dissertation, the first one on a doctoral level and the second on a post-doctoral level, and the 5th chapter of my dissertation was presented to the Trump administration at the White House to express about the propriety of me being issued my doctorate and post-doctorate.

I still have to be dealt with in regard to my emphasis and specifics of through the past four years, but I am not sure about how the present continuance will go with Biden. I do not know whether I will be dealt with or not, and I do not have any contacts with the Biden administration, as I did with the Trump administration. That is, at least, the present situation, and with me still not dealt with yet, I am not sure how much I will be able to do. My career and historic United States involvement come from Biden's early times of before and when (Jimmy) Carter was in the U.S. Presidency, and everything was fully developed and present as of in the (Ronald) Reagan's times. Biden was dealt with through all those years, as was the old American style, but I have not been dealt with yet, as became more and more the American style in the following years since in the 1980s.

Will this situation improve? That is what was wanted in the beginning of the Trump administration times. That is why all that material from me was there and remained there through the past four years. I will keep checking my indicators. Presently, though, I do not have any contacts with the Biden administration, the United States does not have my professional position secured, and there is presently no telling whether Biden or his administration would regard anything in these directions.

Department of the United States

I would like to point out that the U.S. Department of Sovereignty is a department of the United States and exists as a self-regulating organization and an independent division of the executive branch of the U.S. Government. This department is well-founded on the U.S. Constitution and rights and interests of Americans and America. The foundation of the department is tried and true through up to more than a quarter-century and is thus already extensively seasoned and long-enduring since before its recent official establishment in July 2019 (see Appendix C). The department of Sovereignty has authority of the United States sovereignty because this department is the manifestation of the sovereignty of the United States.

This authority of sovereignty includes comparability to eminent domain rights concerning all of the United States geographical area because, again remember that, this is the United States.

U.S. Executive Director Personal Involvement with Education and United States

Important areas such as these educational and professional issues cannot just keep on going neglected, mistreated, skewed, or lessened, and instead, these areas have to receive their appropriate attention due. I worked straight through another summer season in 2020 and said about the fall season coming up concerning everything and including education, but I was left still not dealt with by in September 2020. I presented to the White House the fifth chapter of my post-doctorate edition of my dissertation and questioned about a university working with my dissertation and myself so that there could be completion of the academic end of the doctoral and post-doctoral programs. I ended up into September and through October 2020 without these academics being worked out with me, out of two editions of a whole dissertation and a doctoral and post-doctoral program and highest levels of the country. I had to maneuver and do more, but that is still not these areas being taken care of and is just myself maneuvering and doing more. Way too much remains still not dealt with and in too long an amount of time.

Student Loans Defense Legal Proceedings Update

The settlement was voided (“Alsup slams Dept. of Education’s...,” 2020; “In new ruling...,” 2020; Minsky, 2020). The settlement was voided because the U.S. Department of Education acted against the settlement immediately after its start. The settlement was in preliminary times leading up to its finalization in a fairness hearing, six months later (April to October 1, 2020). The settlement was originally favorable as forward moving to all parties involved, but when the U.S. Department of Education rejected the defenses of the other parties involved with the settlement, the settlement was no longer mutual and could not be agreed with realistically (Binkley, 2020; Halperin, 2020). Notices were provided and were upheld to the point of the fairness hearing and to the current judicial order to void the settlement.

Next declared possible are depositions of U.S. Department of Education officials and updating the legal discovery (“In new ruling...,” 2020). There may be, as there should be, a voiding of the arbitrary denials (“In new ruling...,” 2020; “Student borrowers...,” 2020; Murakami, 2020). These denials were only to the intent of destroying the student loan defenses that thousands of people had established (Lambe, 2020; Minsky, 2020). A consideration was made “In new ruling...” (2020) that everyone did not deserve the student loan debt elimination, but with so many people deserving for so long, a natural situation would be for the remedy to also reach some a little less deserving. Student loan debt elimination does not have to be stopped because some people do not deserve to have their student loan debt eliminated. Rather, the student loan debt can be eliminated because so many people do deserve student loan debt elimination.

The old saying is that the rain falls on all the people and over all the land to provide the rain’s benefits even though some inhabitants of the land may not be so deserving. Everything is not based on those who do not deserve. Everything is based on those who do deserve. With everyone getting more of what they do deserve, that would benefit everyone and including some less deserving. Perhaps the people less deserving are, or would sometime be, more deserving or more deserving in other ways, which may add the other way around in other times. If there is not what there should be concerning who does deserve what should be seen and obtained, the further benefits will never have a chance to happen.

I have been waiting a long time with my material in the White House. With my material in the White House being worked with adequately, I could more than afford to fully pay off my student loans completely (see Appendixes A & D). This material lingers on not sufficiently worked with or rewarded. I made an offer to pay off my student loans and have not been worked with honorably yet concerning my offer, although the present time is now more than a year later. I do not need to wait longer like that to have my student loans paid off precisely according to every dollar, with interest included, rather than having all the student loan debt fully eliminated for everyone, including myself.

I said before that if my material is going to be left neglected and not dealt with or honored as the time passes by and with the bad intent to ruin everything from me, then there is no reason why the student loans should be paid back in full and within terms of mutually good business. The good business is being, or has been, ruined, so other terms apply to equate to fairness. My work still has to be rewarded and honored, and the same is so for my United States executive directorship, but I do not need to rely on student loans being paid in honorable ways for me to be successful and have merits. I have other merits and successes. I just had many ways to be successful with the student loans. I was, though, not let to be successful with the student loans when my offer went ignored, my materials went neglected, and my professional position, which included my United States Government executive directorship, went unrewarded.

The student loans issue has to be settled so that other issues can be advanced, too. My materials that have been in the White House through the past years have to be worked out. I have an excellent dissertation that has to be rewarded and honored and that has been sitting there neglected and not treated right along with the student loans issue and the rest of my materials at the White House. My dissertation is a first edition that was done in 2012 and which earned me my doctorate, and I have a second edition of my dissertation that was completed in 2019 and earned me my post-doctorate. I earned my doctorate and my post-doctorate, but still have not received either.

Another consideration was about irreparable harm (Douglas-Gabriel, 2020; Minsky, 2020). There has been much irreparable harm through the past years. There should not be, and never should have been, any irreparable harm. The better directions do have to be gone. I have been thinking that maybe when there are other law cases, these areas can be more specifically worked on because the student loans law case is not all about these other areas. There has, though, been only this student loans law case, Sweet v. DeVos, No. 19-cv-3674 (N.D. Cal.), that had some relevancy to me and that remotely connected to these other areas involving me, such as my materials in the White House through the past years. My materials are up to date and active right now and ongoing. All involved on my part continues to strive beyond and to prevent irreparable harm, which is serious, needs to be taken seriously and understood as being what it is so that at least as best as possible is possible.

A coincidental thing was that the term “Kafkaesque” was used (“In new ruling...,” 2020; Choi, 2020; Derysh, 2020; Lambe, 2020; Stratford, 2020). Back in 2017 I was talking with a person about the involved university and what had been going on there. The person used the same word, “Kafkaesque,” and I said that such occurrences had been going on. The backend faculty members of the university were making endless endeavors to be done for no real reason and to just keep on doing more and more endless endeavors. Nothing would lead to an end-point or completion, and everything would lead to more to do. Of course, the continuance in actuality through the next seasons went on like the meaning of this word, “Kafkaesque” (“In new ruling...,” 2020), and I then proclaimed a final point and no more of such a continuance as of in 2018. My materials remained in the White House since then, in addition to this student loan defense area active and requiring, and I included in my executive director reports communication about this situation all along the way.

The completion of the updated discovery process was set for December 24th, 2020 (“In new ruling...,” 2020). Requesting a summary judgment was set due January 7th, 2021 (“In new ruling...,” 2020). I wonder what the motion for the summary judgment will be for on January 7th, 2021. The settlement is nullified (Douglas-Gabriel, 2020; Iovino, 2020; McAfee, 2020). Will a request be made to send everything back to the U.S. Department of Education for immediate and continuing work on deciding on each student loan request, which would be putting everything through another questionable decision (“Student borrowers...,” 2020)? An optimal outcome could be to just settle everything with this issue by discharging all the student loans and then just having the student loans and educational funding issues further worked on constructively.

Continuing with Active Areas

I continue to watch this area of the student loan defenses. I would like to do more, but with me not yet dealt with securely on my levels, making these executive director reports was what was right for me to do. The continuance will be further evaluated. As previously noted, the U.S. Department of Education officials will be reached, but the White House officials in consideration of my executive director materials and their relation to the student loans issues still would not have been reached. I will be continuing to watch my indicators and to remain active and successful, and I will be specifically watching for any relevant information following December 24th, 2020 and January 7th, 2021.

Awareness of Parties Most Involved

The parties primarily involved knew these issues were actively requiring. These parties had been extensively and consistently communicated to through a long time. They knew of materials reported to the White House, and they knew of various legal actions already taken officially. They still continued, though, with non-mutual, non-constructive, or non-progressive actions, results, and time delays. Instead of enough being enough and the contrasts stopping or lessening, there was more caused to be necessary and longer caused to have to be gone through.

Intrinsic to U.S. Department of Sovereignty

The injustice has to be stopped. There can be no more unjustified contrasts or careless negligence. There has to at least be good faith efforts being made. Much in these areas is too much to easily explain and will not be just easily worked out so will likely be built into the functioning, existence, and practices of the Sovereignty department. Laws and law cases will not be able to always be around and worked with, but the laws, law enforcement, administration, and upholding will be natural with the United States Department of Sovereignty itself.

Continuance of November 2020 to into 2021

In the continuance of November 2020 to into 2021, the U.S. Presidential election winning regime has obligations to respect, regard, and advance the United States functioning of and with the United States Department of Sovereignty (also see Appendixes B, C, & D). The issues requiring and worked on through the past four years have to be advanced in right ways and on right levels. I myself have to receive rewards and honors due me, including with me being secure on U.S. Executive Director levels of the United States Government. My requirements, rights, honor, integrity, and authority have to be respected and upheld, including with professional rules of no quotas, no oversights, no health requirements, no religious stipulations, no age stipulations, no gender stipulations, no cultural stipulations, no multiple time requirements, and no opposing powers. In other words, there has to be full freedom, naturalness, talent, potential, development, advancement, status, honor, rights, incentives, and history built into the job and without anything else or less.

Conclusion

I still eagerly await communication back. Any kind of relevant presentation can be made to me. I will do an efficient review and follow-up in the active times. My communication lines remain active and are as I have expressed through the past times to the present, with telephone and email included.

DECEMBER 2020December 1, 2020 Report from Department Director

Hello Donald Trump, John DeStefano (and the Trump administration),

I have the past four years of activity, rights, and merits from the times of the Trump administration. I was not adequately dealt with or worked with through that time, but I could have and should have been. Much remains very important, actively involved, and requiring due progression. Areas left neglected but maintained include a U.S. executive directorship, which included the professional levels, pay/salary, time and experience, and establishment and running of a department of the U.S. government. A student loans defense was continued through the 4 years, and including with relevant information made and sent to official establishments such as the White House, U.S. Department of Education, Harvard Law School, and the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California. At the same time, I maintained an excellent dissertation and doctoral and post-doctoral levels, although while unrewarded but worthy of and requiring due reward and honor. Through all this time, I was not dealt with yet and did not yet receive any opportunity that would result in a promotion or upgrade of my status level or standard of living, although much needed, earned, and deserved.

Trust Not Earned

Why I do not just have trust in these directions can be seen. I do not trust everyone, but I still have to function, have there be what there is supposed to be, and advance the true interests that are righteous and worthy. I do not think that these areas will be just easily or fully dealt with, but there still has to be an adequacy in all relevant directions. I have to be treated well and in many good ways, but I cannot be dependent on or susceptible to other people, and I have to have my security and authority of my levels. My independence and sovereignty have to be respected and honored, as should be with the United States or will be without the United States while including the United States.

United States is United States

There are certain particulars that apply to the United States and that do not change arbitrarily according to changes of opinion or people. Rights in these directions remain still requiring and have the earnings and merits of advancing and securing. I am still a historic person of the United States and am not dealt with yet and am supposed to be dealt with. I am a person who many years ago was bestowed with one of the highest honors in existence. I have a more than 25-year career relevant and important to the United States. I have societal involvement on my levels and concerning my areas, so I am supposed to be referred to as “Your Honor” when functioning on official or formal levels. These interactions are politically correct and are supposed to be present and active, and any lesser or contrasting interactions are not what is politically correct and are not supposed to be present or active.

Considering United States Still Being the United States

I consider how these areas can be dealt with reasonably without a Republican person being in the U.S. Presidency. These areas involving me are the ones legitimate, valid, and worthy from the past years to the present and ongoing. These were the issues supposed to be dealt with and still are supposed to be. There never was and never will be supposed to be anything else done, especially in contrast to or in neglect of these areas. I am the one with the merits, rights, knowledge, and experience concerning all involved. I went through the past years of 1992 to 2000, 2008 to 2016 and continuously remained successful without being dealt with and with everything remaining requiring. Many of the areas that went through those years of 1992 to 2000 and 2008 to 2016 did not come from those years and were not limited to those years, as my materials evidence, and I myself went straight through all those years while remaining successful and still requiring the honor due me. Joseph R. Biden, Jr. (Biden) himself requiring to be dealt with does not come from those years, and the people that most helped Biden to be there do not come from those years actually requiring to be dealt with concerning something nationally significant. As said about my foundation of my career and historic aspects, the building up went through the Jimmy Carter (Carter) times that led to the Ronald Reagan (Reagan) times when everything was done and present to regard, advance, and honor.

Heed the Information

I worked and worked through those years of 1992 to 2000 and 2008 to 2016, and I was not dealt with and not benefited through those years. I was not on my right or appropriate levels through those years, and again, that does not necessarily come from those years but did go through those years. I held up. I proved myself and earned everything through those years and up to now. I prefer a better situation and do not want to just work as much as I did or go through some of the hard times or difficulties that I went through, but I will always do what is right and best. Everyone else was not and will not be beyond me or everything in these directions. People will not do more or better than me. If I am held down, caused to go through many difficulties, and to have my time wasted, what can other people expect for themselves, and what could there be concerning other people when they do not have as much as me? For a reasonable situation for the most people, I have to be pleased and content, too.

Biden was not so decisive as to think that everyone else can be ruled out and walked all over. Biden and associates should not gloat over an unquestionable victory because that is not what happened. That clearly winning was not the way it was, and there were the true factors and situational circumstances involved. If Trump had these areas more dealt with, an increase of enough and more than enough for Trump would have resulted. Without that, Trump had less than enough, a little less than enough and which was the total opposite of otherwise.

People like me cannot just be not dealt with. I am remaining requiring to be dealt with through the continuing times. I will continue working with everything accordingly. I may or may not do various things in the same ways as I have been. I may do some things differently, but I will remain an important person and someone who is supposed to be treated right and well. The better of the situations will always be for me to be pleased and content with what I see, experience, and am involved with in and through the times.

How, Where, and When Government Issues Worked On

I want to know how these U.S. government issues are being worked on now and continuing. I have to have areas where I can communicate to have work done. My communication has to be respected, honored, and treated right. I need assistants, secretaries, staff, personnel, and associates of all ranks, statuses, and skill levels, but I do not need superiors or anyone who looks down to me or makes my work, my communication, or myself seem to be looked down on or inferior. In my areas of expertise, I need and expect people to endeavor to learn and not be attempting to teach, instruct, or criticize me. On my levels, I learn what I do not know, and I need the development on my levels, but others need to and should learn and develop on their levels, which should not lessen or belittle me in any way. There may every now and then be a little innocent friction, but there should not ever be excess negatively in these directions. The U.S. Department of Sovereignty has to have its funding and has to have its staffing. The staff members have to be able to function and work successfully and reasonably. I want to know when the U.S. Department of Sovereignty start-up funds earned through 2020 are going to be paid to the Sovereignty department and where I can effectively—meaningfully—communicate to concerning relevant matters.

Issues Remain and Need More than Only Hope through Next Years

Significant issues remained requiring through the past four years. These issues were not limited to the past four years, were from before those years, and now went through those four years. The original idea was for the matters involved to be advanced at being worked out. “Optimism and hope...” (2020) expressed about hope with Biden, but with Trump, there was hope for that appropriate, rightful, and necessary advancement. In these areas, the situation became one of just hoping through those years without the hope being realized, even out of much more done and more time gone through. Everyone is not going to be just eager to hope, as “Optimism and hope...” (2020) suggested, through the next four years and especially to be left there only hoping without anything else as the time of the years goes by.

Much happens through those times of lingering hopes, as they go along with worthiness and good faith efforts made. The economy going into crisis, as “What Biden’s election could mean...” (2020) described, has happened multiple times in the past years and including recently in this year of 2020. Without an adequate realization of the hopes that enabled opportunity, there is a different situation of disadvantage caused from the devaluation of what was justifying the hoping and should not have been devalued or lessened to leave only despair (“What Biden’s election could mean...,” 2020). There is no reason to think that Biden will just take care of these matters by appropriately working around congress and issuing rightful executive orders as Berman (2020) postulated. There is no real reason to merely be enthused about Biden and what he may efficiently do immediately and ongoing as “Optimism and hope...” (2020) pointed out people want and need. Biden has been there through all those past years with the United States government and is considered as a veteran Democrat (Reklaitis, 2020). Biden did not just take care of all these matters in past years. What is to make anyone think that Biden is going to do what people want and take care of all these, or any of these, matters now, as of the first day and to improve people's lives (Berman, 2020)?

Student Loans Issue of Many Years

Student loans is one of the areas that have required through the past years to be straightened out. These student loans areas go back many years and not only to the Trump administration times. In 2015, a year before the start of the Trump U.S. Presidency, people were watching and discussing lawfully established authority to cancel student loan debt (Berman, 2020). Before the Trump administration, this student loans issue became one of the largest debts in the country and did in those times become larger than credit card debt and larger than mortgage debt. This student loans debt became so excessive that the government at the time had to do something about it. That was when the most recent official student loan repayment programs were established and, in truth, just marginalized everything with the student loans. Student loan debt marginalizing in present forms would be a practice that "Biden administration can cancel student debt..." (2020), Keshner (2020), and Reklaitis (2020) described as to just take $10,000 to $50,000 off of every student loan and setting up some other processes and procedures. This arrangement is not necessarily in mutual best interests. Just marginalizing everything with student loans again now, 10 years later and ongoing, is certainly not a settling solution.

These student loan issues, like other national issues, need to be addressed and worked out correctly, but there is not enthusiasm felt that Biden is going to immediately go strong in the right and necessary ways that people want and need (Berman, 2020). Even though Biden went through college and law school, there presently is no telling how many student loans he had. Most other people who would go through law school in the past quarter-century would have had many student loans, and some would have had them accumulate more than others, depending on the situation and by no fault of their own (“Optimism and hope...,” 2020). Law jobs devalued through the past quarter-century. The pays and status levels were not as high as they were in previous decades when there was a lower supply of lawyers and a greater demand. Of course, this jobs, careers, status, and life styles situation was not limited to young lawyers or lawyers just starting out before reaching a well-established point. There is no telling how much Biden knows about these areas of having a house amount of debt to pay while having no benefits from that house and not being able to live in that house (Berman, 2020). Biden went into a good job in association with the United States government, and there is nothing saying that he has had any other kind of job in the past. He may not know what anything else is like or what it is like to have something like student loans that have to be taken care of while no one cares or is listening. He may not understand the seriousness and realness of these issues involved.

There is not just good business involved with the student loans. Evidence is that through the past four years, I had professional material at the White House and was still not dealt with in any appropriate or sufficient professional way. I mentioned more than sufficiently about the student loans also. I had the credentials, experience, rights, worthiness, and potential to have my professional position worked out and secured. The student loans were active issues nationally, and with me, the student loans showed that I really had an extensive amount of an academic/educational background, including with graduate credentials up to advanced doctoral levels. This continuance of nothing worked out—the action of inaction—destroyed everything that would have taken care of the student loans, and that occurrence was what was complained about and evidenced here through those times (Sweet v. DeVos, No. 19-cv-3674, N.D. Cal.). Further, of course, the time continued going by with the student loans, and all involved, just remaining and lingering on requiring, just like everything else relevant and only to dishearten everyone and leave them obfuscated with cloudy views of any outlook or future (Sweet v. DeVos, No. 19-cv-3674, N.D. Cal.).

Trump did some things but not enough. This student loans issue was enough known about that Trump did stop payments and interest on student loans for a while (Berman, 2020). He would not have done that if he did not know of this student loans issue as one of the active national issues. A part of the trouble, again as in other directions, was not having enough relevant guidance when so many other people were not there, were being left out, and were not able to meaningfully provide checks and balances. Some skewing of the student loans issue occurred by racializing the issue, as was done to an extent (“Biden administration can cancel student debt...,” 2020; Berman, 2020). This racializing made the national student loans debt seem like a cultural issue and one that many Republicans did not want anything to do with and did not want to support (“Biden administration can cancel student debt...,” 2020; Berman, 2020). That was untrue and a misleading of Trump, other Republicans, and many Democrats, too, away from doing anything significant about the student loans issue. This student loans issue involves people involved in any way with student loans, American education, and American universities, and that is the correct way to put it without misleading people.

Biden Will Do What

How can anyone tell as to whether Biden knows or cares about all these areas. Biden can do something about this student loans issue after being fully in the U.S. Presidency (Keshner, 2020; “Biden administration can cancel student debt...,” 2020; Reklaitis, 2020; Berman, 2020; “What Biden’s election could mean...,” 2020; “Optimism and hope...,” 2020). What will be done and its significance will soon show for sure (Berman, 2020). Trump could still implement the Higher Education Act (HEA) to eliminate the student loans immediately before anyone else has a chance to do anything (Keshner, 2020; Berman, 2020). Trump would not need congressional approval (“Biden administration can cancel student debt...,” 2020; Berman, 2020). The U.S. District Court judge in California can in the present times do something about the student loans (Sweet v. DeVos, No. 19-cv-3674, N.D. Cal.). Perhaps, everything with the student loans will be politically left for Biden to do something. He may then do something politically, such as taking care of all the student loans by cancelling student loan debt of 10 cents or 50 cents of each student loan, which is the same as cancelling 10 to 50 thousand dollars of every student loan (Keshner, 2020; “Biden administration can cancel student debt...,” 2020; Reklaitis, 2020; Berman, 2020). The student loans issue has to be taken care of for real, and while there can be some politics involved, there cannot be only politics involved. Superficially taking care of the student loans cannot be afforded and will not handle the economic or educational impacts of the student loans issue (Berman, 2020).

There is a consideration that maybe because Biden is a lawyer, he will realize some of the law aspects involved. The meaning is that law aspects such as justice will be considered. These student loan debt occurrences were not just good business. There was not involved just sense, logic, reasonability, or what someone might think but rather there was a deviant Kafkaesque blockage and misleading (“In new ruling...,” 2020; Choi, 2020; Derysh, 2020; Lambe, 2020; Stratford, 2020). There was no good intent. Doing something good does not take so long (“Student borrowers...,” 2020). There was an excessive continuance, a repeating, a non-stopping, and no altering or making up for inappropriate results caused non-mutually and only to obfuscate and cause a seemingly impossible situation (Sweet v. DeVos, No. 19-cv-3674, N.D. Cal.). The action of inaction became atrocious and was entirely negligent and careless of everyone with legitimate interests involved (Sweet v. DeVos, No. 19-cv-3674, N.D. Cal.). There were damages and irreparable harms (Minsky, 2020). The opportunity costs were tremendous, and no one can afford to pay for everything involved (Berman, 2020). In too many directions, to return people to their former state before the injustice became more and more unlikely and impossible. Without truly knowing this information, Biden will not want to or be able to handle the student loans issue. These are some of the aspects here that involve law, working with law, and working as a lawyer, judge, or a U.S. official, but that does not mean that Biden is going to know, understand, act on, or honor these concepts.

Another consideration is of the emphasis that doing everything concerning the student loans debt issue would be to again marginalize the student loans situation. That is a solution that is a false solution and is to make everyone pay on the student loans through the next years, and perhaps, after eliminating $10,000 to $50,000 of student loans debt for each person (Keshner, 2020; “Biden administration can cancel student debt...,” 2020; Reklaitis, 2020; Berman, 2020). First, that is not a percentage, as it should be to be fair and not out of proper proportion. Secondly, the larger the student loan debt is for each person does not mean that more of the student loan debt should be left. These people with the larger student loan debt could have, and most likely did, go through more and longer than the people with the lesser amount of student loan debt. Again, look at the evidence, if possible, of the material that was in the White House through the past four years with the student loans involved actively and with advanced level professional positions up to the highest levels of the country also actively involved. Anyone with such material and evidence has certainly gone through more and longer than most other people and including those with smaller student loan amounts. The higher student loan debt amounts have to be more taken care of appropriately and certainly not less in any way. To sum these points up, of peak importance is to set the perspectives straight and to get on course with what is truly involved and with the truly right ways to go.

Another Possible Student Loan Issue Solution for Real

Everything with the student loans debt should be just put into one big account. There next can be various funds set up to work with the one student loans debt account ongoing through the next five years or so, and these tasks can be professional United States government jobs for qualified people. This student loans debt account can be worked on with intents of full elimination and to the point of full elimination. In addition, the issue of American education funding has to be worked through and set to be going in correct directions. Then in these right ways, progress has to be made. Biden will not do these things or go these ways unless he does for real, and he will not for real unless he adequately listens to and respects other people and the truth, facts, and rights involved.

Conclusion

I request receiving communication back. I expect the communication back to inform me of the continuance here concerning the White House personnel area, the White House, the United States Government, and the Trump administration, whether that be directly or indirectly. I want to know who will continue working on these areas relevant and who I can communicate to in a functionally realistic way. I want to know whether my U.S. Government executive director position is going to be secured officially and if I am going to be paid my director's pay in accord with my invoice (see Appendix A). Is the U.S. Department of Sovereignty going to be allocated its funds earned through the past year of 2020 and as is displayed on the sovereignty department invoice (see Appendix B)? Please provide me with the answers I am asking for, and timeliness would be appreciated.
